Fiona McKeon

Fiona McKeon is a Professional Development Lecturer and Trainer, she entered the business world over a decade ago and her strong background in education ensures her methods of lecturing, mentoring and teaching are informative and effective. Fiona provides skill and advice to people of all ages to improve their professional standards and personal effectiveness through branding and mentoring. Fiona counts many educational institutions, IBEC, Fás, DAA, Brown Thomas, Ernst & Young, Sasha, Darley Flying Start, TV3, and TG4 as her previous clients.

Fiona has been working and educating in the industry for over 20 years, working with schools, colleges and businesses and has developed and delivered training programmes for Dublin Institute of Design and IICI. As CEO of Bizworld Ireland, she is effectively bridging the gap between educators and business people in order to produce successful but financially responsible leaders and entrepreneurs for the future.
