Results of the Public consultation on directions for ICT-driven public sector innovation at European Union level Research and innovation in Horizon 2020

In the context of the preparation of the Horizon 2020 forthcoming Work Programmes, the European Commission carried out a consultation to provide input for research and innovation activities at EU level in the area of ICT-enabled public sector innovation, which resulted in the Orientation Paper below.

It has been compiled on the one hand from expert discussions and inputs made during and after a workshop on 31/01/2013 in Brussels. See the Expert Workshop Report below.

In addition, an online public consultation was carried out that invited stakeholders (administrations, businesses, researchers, innovators, academia and users). This consultation was open from 08/03/2013 to 15/04/2013. The original public consultation can be found on <http://ec.europa.eu/digital-single-market/en/news/consultation-directions-ict-driven-public-sector-innovation-eu> [1] See the Results of the online public consultation below.
