Palante midterm conference: Addressing eHealth innovation challenges - empowering patients

The Palante midterm conference will take place on November 6th 2013 at the Committee of the Regions in Brussels. Purpose: to share lessons around the implementation of eHealth pilots, including the active involvement and roles of patients and health professionals. In terms of its focus it will be a working conference aimed at learning through exchange.

The conference, organised by the experts of PALANTE [1] and supported by SUSTAINS [2] (both CIP projects), seeks to involve policy makers, health managers, health professionals and patients in discussions around patient empowerment through eHealth innovations.

A preliminary agenda is available here [3]. Participation is free, but we need to ask you to register using this form [4].
