

Digital Single Market

News Article 23/10/2013

An integrated approach to health and social care services: the Commonwell project

Across Europe, providing health and social care services is becoming increasingly complex and costly. An ageing population, a multitude of public, private and informal actors, together with a myriad of eHealth systems and technologies create numerous hurdles to offering efficient and cost-effective care. A team of EU-funded researchers and practitioners are helping to get these services off the ground.

Read full text ^[1]

Share this page

Source URL: <https://ec.europa.eu/digital-single-market/en/news/integrated-approach-health-and-social-care-services-commonwell-project>

Links

[1] http://cordis.europa.eu/result/brief/rcn/11854_en.html