Call for proposals 13 November 2013 to 10 December 2013

Phase 3 of the Future Internet PPP calls for professional communications services

As part of the third phase of the Future Internet Public-Private Partnership [1] the European Commission calls in the work programme for a project/service which provides support for communications, networking and dissemination and exploitation activities such as developing success stories, road shows, conferences and presence at conferences and fairs to achieve significant visibility and attract further usage and exploitation using the latest multi-media and Internet tools.

The call details here [2] available.

If you are interested, you may want to read more about the Future Internet PPP in the overall work programme [3] (notably pages 24-25). Naturally such a project will have to be carried out in close collaboration with the on-going actions of the Future Internet PPP.
