Southern Mediterranean dialogue on Electronic Communications & the Information Society

Reports and studies 19/11/2013

The Southern Mediterranean dialogue on Electronic Communications & the Information Society was held on November 18/19 in Athens, Greece.

This event was a first of its kind and aimed at bringing together the various stakeholders involved in ensuring the right regulatory environment to facilitate the creation of a harmonized and investment friendly environment in the electronic communications sector, and accelerate the development of the Euro-Mediterranean Information Society. It therefore supports and further improves Information Society cooperation between Europe and the Mediterranean Partner Countries, building on the recommendations and achievements of cooperation among regulators and other regional initiatives.

The meeting led to a Joint Statement which is attached to this page.
