

Mr. Nenad GLADIC

Mr. Gladic is the author and presenter of the highly acclaimed TV series "Gastronomad". Originating from a family with long tradition in hospitality, he is a Belgrade native. Upon graduation from hospitality school, for several years he worked for a prestigious global company that organizes luxury cruises overseas. After returning from abroad, he was engaged in tourism and hospitality in Belgrade, and since 2010 he is best known for his television work. He has published a very well received culinary travelogue atlas titled "Gastronomad".

He constantly and intensely enriches his extensive international culinary experience by exploring new tastes. Especially charming are discoveries of authentic and somewhat forgotten traditional dishes. Accordingly, this year's EDEN competition on "Tourism and local gastronomy" will be an excellent opportunity for insight into the current attitude towards the gastronomic tradition in Serbia, with the aim of improving it, as well as to popularize this kind of tourism.

