The European Commission invites small and medium-sized companies to join a circular economy delegation to Beijing on 23-25 November 2016.

The delegation takes place on the occasion of the 1st China International Circular Economy Exhibition [2] and will be led by Mr Daniel Calleja, the European Commission's Director-General for Environment.

A series of matchmaking meetings with local entrepreneurs will give EU green business, and in particular SMEs, the chance to explore business partnerships in the following areas:

- Circular economy,
- Resource efficiency and sustainable use of natural resources,
- Eco-innovation,
- Chemicals,
- Water management,
- Waste management, and
- Energy saving.

If you'd like to participate, please register [3] in advance. Participation is free of charge; travel arrangements and accommodation costs are under the responsibility of each participant.
