I'm completely in favour of the Euro-Bond or Stability-Bond (as you prefer); they should be the real base on which build up a United States of Europe remembering the spirit of the beginning EEC/CECA etc. This is the second basic tool in this direction after Euro as USA have Treasury Bond we NEED to switch from "single-state bond" to european-bond because otherwise what done with Euro will collapse very shortly under markets instability. I'm Italian and I would like to say that our national debts it not coming from "yesterday", I'm 50th and as far as I remeber we alway had debts but we always payed them and I do not foresee any reason that will be against this way of doing for the future, but I also see a stupid idea of "protect itself" from other neighboring for stupod elctoral reasons..... persuing this wil bring back to nationalism that after a while wil bring again WAR on Europe !! Please think before acting....
