The European Commission has released a communication on the Common Agricultural Policy post-2020 entitled “The future of food and farming”. It highlights the challenges that agriculture and rural areas are facing. It shows how cooperation on research and innovation at EU level, learning from each other will enable us to develop better knowledge and adopt innovation faster to overcome these challenges.

Read the communication [1].

Links