“Agroforestry as a set of land use practices can address the current challenges facing both agriculture and natural resource management. However, more needs to be done to implement this multifunctional approach [...]. Grassroots innovations have to be analysed and shared through networking initiatives at all scales.” Fabien Balaguer (France), expert from the EIP-AGRI Focus Group on Agroforestry.

Read the Focus Group’s final report [1] and factsheet [2].

Links