1. INTRODUCTION AND CONTEXT

At the Lisbon European Council in 2000 an Open Method of Coordination was established in order to make a decisive impact on the eradication of poverty and social exclusion by 2010. Key elements in the Open Method include agreement by Member States on common objectives in the fight against poverty and social exclusion, the development of common indicators to measure progress, the development of two yearly National Action Plans, regular monitoring and analysis of progress and the exchange of learning and best practice.

The Open Method is underpinned by a five year, € 75 million Community Action Programme to encourage cooperation between Member States and acceding, candidate and EFTA/EEA countries to combat social exclusion. 64 projects were selected to participate in an initial preparatory Phase, Phase I. This has now been completed and following a further selection process 31 projects have now been chosen to receive support for a further 2 year period, beginning in December 2003. This programme, which came into operation in January 2002 is intended as a key tool to support and advance the implementation of the Open Method of Coordination through supporting cooperation which will enable the Community and the Member States to enhance the effectiveness and efficiency of policies to combat social exclusion.

In 2002 a Transnational Exchange Programme was put in place under Strand 2 of the Community action programme. In April 2002 the Commission launched a call for proposals inviting applications from partnerships wishing to develop transnational exchange and cooperation projects.

2. OBJECTIVES OF THE CALL

The exchange programme is intended to encourage the exchange of learning and good practice on policies and programmes that can contribute to preventing and eradicating poverty and social exclusion. A related aim is to mobilise and involve a wide range of different actors. Thus applications had to come from partnerships involving partners based in at least 3 Member States. Partners could include national, local and regional authorities, bodies responsible for combating social exclusion, social partners, social service providers, non governmental organisations, universities and research institutes, national statistical offices and the media. Proposals were particularly encouraged from partnerships which involve actors from several different sectors and which combine partners who are both involved in policy making at national, regional or local level with those who have direct experience of combating poverty and social exclusion on the ground.

3. A PHASED APPROACH

The Transnational Exchange Programme is being implemented in two phases: an initial preparatory phase of 9 months followed by the main phase of up to 2 years. Following an open Call for Proposals (VP/2002/010) last year 64 transnational exchange projects were selected to take part in Phase I. Actions under this phase are for 9 months and most started in December 2003. During Phase I the selected projects are expected to concentrate on: taking stock of existing knowledge and policy developments in relation to the issue projects have chosen to investigate; fostering the development of a transnational and multisectoral partnership which will provide the basis for longer term co-operation and exchange; and defining objectives and developing proposals for a clear programme of further work for up to two years.

However, subsidy agreements will be signed for one year and will be subject to an annual and conditional renewal.

The projects selected all address important issues that have emerged from the National Action Plans on poverty and social exclusion prepared by Member States. Some projects are concerned with the exchange of learning on particular policy areas, while others are examining the development of institutional approaches which can underpin social inclusion policies.

This compendium gives provides information about the 31 selected projects under Phase II with a view to facilitating exchange of learning between the selected projects and also with other interested actors.

4. ANALYSIS OF THE SELECTION OF PROPOSALS

63 applications were received millions by the closing date for applications of 20th June 2003. Following a rigorous evaluation procedure 31 proposals were selected for funding originating from the 15 Member States and Norway.

Based on the nationality of the promoters of selected projects the United Kingdom (5) have the most projects selected, followed by Italy and Spain (4). With the exception of Finland, Luxembourg and Portugal all Member States and Norway have at least one project selected. Perhaps even more significant is the extent of the involvement of Member States as partners in applications. 60% of Member States are involved in 10 or more applications (see Table 1).

Table 1 Analysis of Applications by Country

The majority of acceding and candidate countries are involved in the projects as partner organisations. Romania is participating in the most projects (7). With the exception of Turkey, all acceding and candidate countries are participating in at least one exchange project. (see Table 2)

The applications selected represent a good spread of proposals covering the key issues reflected in the objectives agreed by Member States and in the Joint Report on Social Inclusion.

The areas of immigration and ethnic minorities, local anti-poverty initiatives and local services feature most frequently (see Table 3).

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The partnership is intended to contribute to combating exclusion by allowing microfinance to develop in Europe. Following on from Phase I, during which 22 organisations agreed upon a joint venture, this project aims to develop the European Microfinance Network with the following main objectives: promoting self-employment, microenterprises and microfinance in Europe; helping to develop microfinance programmes for the dissemination of good practice; improving the regulatory framework for microfinance and self-employment at European Union and Member State levels. If successful, this project will have the following practical results: providing specific training for microfinance; implementing programmes for the exchange and dissemination of good practice via the Internet (dedicated Intranet site), a library, technical assistance, etc.; improving the regulatory framework for microfinance and self-employment at European Union and Member State level.

Le partenariat vise à contribuer à la lutte contre l'exclusion en permettant le développement de la microfinance en Europe. Dans le prolongement de la phase I, qui a permis de réunir 22 organisations autour d'un projet commun, le présent projet vise à développer le Réseau Européen de la Microfinance avec pour objets principaux : - La promotion du travail indépendant, des microentreprises et de la microfinance en Europe - Le soutien au développement de programmes de microfinance par la diffusion de bonnes pratiques - L'amélioration du cadre réglementaire de la microfinance et du travail indépendant au niveau de l'Union européenne et de ses Etats membres Ce projet, s'il aboutit, aura pour résultats concrets : - La mise en oeuvre de formations spécifiques à la microfinance - La mise en oeuvre de programmes d'échanges et diffusion de bonnes pratiques entre opérateurs, via Internet (site Intranet dédié), une bibliothèque, des missions d'assistance technique, etc... - L'amélioration du cadre réglementaire de la microfinance et du travail indépendant au niveau de l'Union européenne et de ses Etats membres.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The project's aims are to design a model for European cooperation to combat poverty and social exclusion based on cooperation between municipal authorities, associations and other social and economic operators which will define new strategies, effective instruments, discussion forums and procedures for working together, and to promote a culture of cooperation between various social players by conducting a series of dissemination activities with the aim of raising awareness of and promoting social commitment in enterprises. The results will be: 1) A report identifying the most successful strategies, effective instruments, discussion forums and procedures for cooperation. 2) Definition of a new model for collaboration with a practical methodology for coordinating and extending collaboration between enterprises and gearing it to social projects conducted by social entities supported by the administration. 3) Development of a nexus of implementation and validation activities for dissemination and raising awareness within the framework of the model and dissemination to promote the culture of collaboration. 4) Transnational seminar.

Diseñar un modelo europeo de cooperación para combatir la pobreza y la exclusión social, a partir de la cooperación entre autoridades municipales, el tejido asociativo y otros agentes sociales y económicos que defina nuevas estrategias, instrumentos eficaces, espacios de interlocución y procedimientos de trabajo común. - Fomentar una cultura de colaboración entre los distintos actores sociales a través de la realización de una serie de acciones y actos de divulgación, con el objetivo de sensibilizar y fomentar el compromiso social de las empresas. Resultados: 1- informe, con la identificación de estrategias, instrumentos eficaces, espacios de interlocución y procedimientos de colaboración considerados más exitosos 2- Definición de un nuevo modelo de colaboración con una metodología concreta para poder coordinar, ampliar y canalizar la colaboración de las empresas con los proyectos sociales llevados a cabo por las entidades sociales, y que cuente con el apoyo de la administración. 3- Desarrollo de un conjunto de acciones de ejecución y validación de divulgación y sensibilización en el marco del modelo y difusión para fomentar la cultura de colaboración 4- Seminario transnacional

The point of departure for cooperation in Phase II is the United Nations Convention on Children's Rights, the key requirements of which — where they remain unmet — define the main risks of and typical circumstances for exclusion. The project's approach is to pool the efforts of all the players engaged in the social integration of children – 1. pre-school child care centres, 2. professional social services for children and their families, 3. voluntary social workers – to form an intensive and effective partnership. A transnational comparison is to be conducted to analyse the effectiveness of various local and regional networks' social work and lobbying against social exclusion, develop transferability and draft recommendations for action. The project will seek to produce the following: 1. documentation of networking, 2. information on how excluded children see their situation, 3. a curriculum for social exclusion, 4. a description of lobbying strategies, 5. recommendations on social and educational policy, 6. an Internet page, 7. a brochure and 8. a symposium.

Ausgangspunkt der gemeinsamen Arbeit in Phase II soll die Kinderrechtskonvention der Vereinten Nationen sein, deren zentrale Forderungen zugleich - in ihrer Negation - die wichtigsten Ausgrenzungsrisiken und Tatbestände definieren. Der Ansatz dieses Projektes ist es, alle relevanten Akteure, die sich mit der sozialen Eingliederung von Kindern befassen, zu einer intensiven und effektiven Kooperation zusammen zu führen: 1. Tageseinrichtungen für Kinder im Vorschulalter, 2. professionelle soziale Dienste für Kinder und ihre Familien und 3. freiwilliges soziales/bürgerschaftliches Engagement. Im transnationalen Vergleich sollen unterschiedliche lokale und regionale Netzwerke in ihrer sozialarbeiterischen Wirksamkeit und ihrer Lobbyarbeit gegen soziale Ausgrenzung von Kindern analysiert, Transfermöglichkeiten entwickelt und Handlungsempfehlungen erarbeitet werden. Folgende Projektergebnisse werden angestrebt: 1. Dokumentationen der Netzwerkarbeit, 2. Informationen über die Sichtweise der Betroffenen, 3. ein Curriculum zur sozialen Ausgrenzung, 4. Beschreibung von Lobby-Strategien, 5. Empfehlungen zur Sozial- und Bildungspolitik, 6. Internetseite, 7. Broschüre und 8. die Durchführung einer Fachtagung.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The main aim of the project on gender indicators to combat social exclusion is to create Europe-wide gender indicators of social exclusion. The specific aims of the project are: to revise the existing official indicators; to develop and apply participatory methodologies for constructing social indicators; to record specific instances of exclusion of women, compare the project's theoretical basis with women's practical experience, and construct qualitative indicators which explain how women experience the mechanisms of social exclusion; to transform qualitative indicators into quantitative ones; to analyse the viability of these new indicators and to propose recommendations to enable these indicators to be applied in a political context. The project aims to achieve these objectives by coordinating networking activities at two levels: at European level (where Italian, French, Spanish, Swedish, Belgian and Hungarian entities will be involved) and at local/regional/national level (each European entity participating has created or will create a multisectoral and interdisciplinary expert support group).

El proyecto Indicadores de Género contra la Exclusión Social tiene como principal objetivo la creación de indicadores de género de la exclusión social de ámbito europeo. Los objetivos específicos del proyecto son: - Revisar los indicadores oficiales existentes. - Desarrollar y aplicar metodologías participativas para la construcción de indicadores sociales. - Recoger experiencias concretas de exclusión de las mujeres, contrastar las propuestas teóricas del proyecto con las experiencias concretas de las mujeres y construir indicadores cualitativos que expliquen cómo las mujeres viven sus procesos de exclusión social. - Transformar indicadores cualitativos en cuantitativos. - Analizar la viabilidad de estos nuevos indicadores. - Proponer recomendaciones para posibilitarla aplicación de estos indicadores en el ámbito político. El proyecto pretende conseguir estos objetivos a partir de la articulación de un trabajo en red a dos niveles: a nivel europeo (intervienen entidades de Italia, Francia, España, Suecia, Bélgica y Hungría) y a nivel local/regional/nacional (cada entidad europea participante ha creado o creará un grupo de expertos de refuerzo con carácter multisectorial e interdisciplinar).

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Our general objective is to further explore the different creative approaches to combat homelessness in terms of focussing on: re-integration in the labour market-transition actions (responsible: City of Barcelona) - mental health strategies of working with mentally disabled persons (responsible: City of Bologna) - services for women (responsible: City of Vienna). Project will analyse how these methods/good practices can be related to the improvement of the NAPs. We want to find good practices at the local level to be applicable in all cities taking part in the project and to be recommended to get in the NAPs. In addition, the project will prepare information tools based on the innovative method, I.e. CD-rom including reports based on the three themes to be addressed. This will be spread to networks at national and european level.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

This partnership will address mainstreaming poverty elimination and social inclusion. The multi-dimensional nature of poverty and social exclusion implies that a multi-dimensional response is required which involves policy being developed and implemented by a number of different actors working together and across work boundaries. The project has a number of objectives at different levels. It aims to contribute to the development of the Open Method of Co-ordination and the NAPs incl by increasing visibility for the issues of poverty and social exclusion; enhancing policy coherence; developing strategies for the effective implementation of mainstreaming and appropriate mechanisms for monitoring and review. The concrete outputs from the project will be a book on mainstreaming social inclusion in Europe and a handbook on mainstreaming for government officials and non-governmental organisations. The handbook will serve both an information function, by introducing and providing background to and resources on mainstreaming, and training sections on how to develop evaluation systems, for example.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Our focal point is a knowledge improvement about the concept of social citizenship at local, national and European level, as effective tool to prevent insecurity and social exclusion. From this starting point, we will: - deepen the analysis about the practises of citizenship developed by women associations across Europe through a research and preparatory activity - enhance a better understanding of the impact of these practises on the local policies in different territories of the Countries involved, through the identification of patterns of citizenship indicators - create a strong link with some selected European territories through the experimentation of participatory forums which will be held in two sessions - promote an active and mutual exchange of the best and innovative policies/practises at transnational level, on the following cross-cut themes: health access, work access (with a special focus on migrant domestic workers) and local policies/citizenship indicators and social citizenship through the organisation of 3 thematic transnational seminars - set up a story book about the project results and the processes monitoring

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Main objective is to improve knowledge on the social situation of immigrants in rural areas in the EU with a view to favour means and policies promoting inclusion of this target group, to analyse the positive impact of an adequate integration of migrants population in the socio-economic development of disadvantaged rural communities. Special attention will be given to the situation of migrant women.

Specific objectives: to identify the main factors of social exclusion of migrants in rural areas; to strengthen mechanisms of co-operation in rural area in EU involving particular stakeholders (local authorities, social service providers, enterprises, trade unions, NGOs and their beneficiaries), with a view to settle multi-dimensional networks; to raise awareness of local communities in rural areas on the positive impact of the integration of immigrants and to draft communication channels to improve their integration.

Outputs/activities: strengthening and enlarging the EU network Rural-In;

transnational meetings and workshops, web site; identification of best practices, sensibilization campaign; implementation of 2 pilot experiences

Policy areas

Promoting a rights-based approach, Immigration and ethnic diversity, Disadvantaged urban community, Youth, Multiple Disadvantage.

Institutional mechanisms

Mainstreaming poverty accross all policy areas, Developing local anti-poverty strategies, Involving and supporting stakeholders, Evaluating the impact of policies, Greater public awareness.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The ENSI project is intended to encourage persons who are socially excluded or threatened by exclusion to take part in political processes. In Phase I, the project partners analysed the national action plans of the Member States involved and concluded that the importance attached to participation varied greatly. In some cases, action to promote participation is mentioned only in passing, and in others it is presented in considerable detail. In order for disadvantaged persons and groups to take part in political decision-making processes, awareness must be raised further and practical proposals for action must be devised and discussed with them. The aim of Phase II is therefore to carry out two-day transnational training courses on participation in the partner countries. Between 50 and 55 socio-political players and excluded persons will take part in each. The foundations and curricula for the courses were prepared during Phase I by the members of the steering group (D, NL, A, GR, F) in the form of a handbook.

Das Projekt ENSI will die Partizipation von Menschen an politischen Prozessen verbessern, die sozial ausgegrenzt oder von Ausgrenzung bedroht sind. In Phase I haben die Projektpartner die NAPincl der beteiligten Mitgliedstaaten analysiert und im Ergebnis festgestellt, dass das Thema Partizipation einen sehr unterschiedlichen Stellenwert hat. Zum Teil sind partizipative Ansätze nur am Rande erkennbar, zum Teil sind sie sehr umfangreich dargestellt. Für die Beteiligung benachteiligter Personen und Gruppen an politischen Entscheidungsprozessen muss verstärkt sensibilisiert werden und konkrete Handlungsvorschläge für die Praxis müssen gemeinsam mit Betroffenen entwickelt und diskutiert werden. Ziel des Projektes ENSI in der Phase II ist daher die Durchführung von zweitägigen transnationalen Fortbildungen zum Thema Partizipation in den Partnerländern. Jeweils 50-55 sozialpolitische Akteure und von Ausgrenzung betroffenen Personen werden teilnehmen. Die Grundlagen und Inhalte der Fortbildungen wurden in Phase I von den Mitgliedern der Steuerungsgruppe (D, NL; A, GR, F) in Form eines Handbuches erarbeitet.

Policy areas

Transitions welfare to work, Housing and homeless, Disadvantaged urban and rural communities, Promoting a rights-based approach, Multiple disadvantage

Institutional mechanisms

Developing local anti-poverty strategies, Involving and supporting stakeholders, Participation and empowerment.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Building on the achievements of phase I, phase II will continue concentrating on fighting social exclusion in terms of access to rights for everyone, namely right to quality housing and quality employment. In this part, the project will be devoted at starting up a process of benchmarking and benchlearning in the field of integrated multidimensional approaches to inclusion through quality employment, new local entrepreneurship and quality housing. The objectives of this phase can be summarized as: a) drafting common terms of reference and common indicators for local integrated and multidimensional approaches to be applied to local territories according to their context; b) develop a real exchange of know-how and competencies among territories; c) drafting of a basic model providing guidance to local planning; d) starting up a process of mutual support among EU and accessing territories; e) create a link between different european level organisations dealing with problems linked to the selected issues in order to foster common approaches. concrete outputs will be: a) EU model strategy; b) improved portal for inclusion; c) elaboration of common benchmark.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The project will address the fast growing problem of unaccompanied young asylum seekers and immigrants who arrive daily in the Member States and become the responsibility of local social services. The objectives of this proposal will be to carry out a detailed research of the legal and welfare policy and practices regarding unaccompanied young asylum seekers across Europe including the accession countries, to exchange experience and expertise between local government social welfare departments responsible for receiving, protecting and caring for these young people and also the ministries responsible for justice, immigration and welfare policies, to construct a statement of good practice which would involve a broader range of participants including asylum seekers themselves and to facilitate the involvement of asylum seekers themselves in articulating their own experiences and views.

Institutional mechanisms

Developing local anti poverty strategies, Involving and supporting stakeholders.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Despite the economic growth in the EU, many unskilled workers above the age of 50 are facing difficulties in keeping their job or returning to the labour market. Technological developments and increased efficiency at workplaces have made it difficult for seniors to keep up with developments. The fact of unemployed seniors becoming a marginalized and excluded group are becoming a growing social and labourmarket policy problem in the EU. The purpose of the project is to establish networks contributing to the creation of a social dialogue between local and transnational players. Surveys of opportunities and barriers to the development of senior policies at enterprises as well as opportunities and barriers to unskilled seniors' return to the labour market will be conducted. Transnational experience and recommendations will be exchanged on the background of national experience. The survey and discussions will be described and disseminated, a website will be developed and a national and transnational seminar organized for stakeholders providing the breeding ground for a discussion of future measures used for supporting the national strategies on development of senior policies in phase 2 of the project.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The issue of the project is to look deeply into the transnational co-operation and the experiences exchange in the fields of poverty and social exclusion, promoting the active presence of the Roma/Traveller in the NAPs/incl. The main objectives of the project are the institutional action, by elaborating a sensitizing and building policies manual, and the capacity building and training of Roma people and public agents. The main outputs of the project are a sensitizing and building-policies manual, with its following public presentation, and its previous research contained within draft national reports. On the other hand, the outputs in the field of capacity building are the specific training materials and seminars adressed to the Roma people and the public actors in the field of social inclusion.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Il progetto COESO intende analizzare e valutare l'impatto che le iniziative di informazione hanno rispetto alla promozione dell'integrazione ed all'accesso ai servizi locali di inclusione sociale da parte delle categorie svantaggiate. Nel corso di questi anni sono state sviluppate in diversi contesti locali europei, strategie politiche e strumenti operativi di comunicazione e partecipazione dei cittadini al fine di promuovere l'accesso ai servizi sociali, in particolare da parte dei poveri e degli emarginati. Il progetto COESO mette a confronto le strategie utilizzate a diverso livello (enti pubblici locali, autorità regionali, ONG) per affrontare i problemi connessi alle informazioni necessarie per l'accesso, gli strumenti facilitativi, i patti di cittadinanza per negoziare e garantire i diritti di equità fra cittadini e amministrazione pubblica, valutandone l'impatto e i punti di forza e di debolezza. Il progetto che si vuole sviluppare, dovrà consentire al partenariato di COESO di avere al termine dei due anni di ricerca e confronto: 1. un elenco di indicatori di successo per la valutazione delle strategie di informazione; 2. uno studio volto alla definizione di standard europei dei servizi di informazione; 3. una rassegna di studi di caso di informazione rivolti a specifici target; 4. uno schema di carta per la cittadinanza sociale comune agli stati membri.

COESO project aims at analysing and validating the impact of information initiatives for access to local services of social inclusion by disadvantaged populations, as well as enhancement of integration. Through these years, policy strategies and operational instruments have been developed at local levels in Europe, for communication and participation of citizens with the aim of promoting the access to social services, particularly from people living in poverty and marginalised people.

COESO will confront the strategies implemented in different context and by different EU local associations in order to avoid the obstacles existing in the access to public services: the facilitating instruments, the capacity of citizens to negotiate the rights of equality of access and their relations with public administration, the impact and the strengths and weaknesses. The project that we want to develop will have to provide after two years of research: a guide of success indicators for the validation of information strategies; a study of information; a study on the definition of European standards in public services; a list of case studies of information for a specific target; a scheme of a Social Charter for citizens common to all MS.

Institutional mechanisms

Involving and supporting stakeholders, Evaluating the impact of policies.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

This project seeks to address family policies and programmes from the point of view of families themselves and help governments, statutory and voluntary bodies to build social environments that lessen the accumulation of risks, that encourage protective and buffer factors, and that help families out of social exclusion.

Specific objectives: 1. To engage with governments and regions to construct and implement NAPs that promote the social inclusion (and tackle social exclusion) of families with young children. 2. To develop a practical framework for constructing and assessing family support policies and programmes. 3. To promote transnational and cross-sectoral learning from exchanges and joint work.

Expected Outcomes

Activities include: Interviews with families ; international meetings ; national meetings with panels in each country composed of relevant local, regional and national governmental advisors, academics, families and NGOs with appropriate experience; development of an assessment framework for policies and programmes; Families talking : - videos (also transferred onto CD Rom) from Hungary, Greece, UK and Ireland plus one International video/CD; Links between Home-Start International and other projects dealing with family policy e.g. ATD Network; 14. Main objectives / Summary of the project

This project fights against social exclusion and access to justice of people with intellectual disability. This group is in grave danger of social exclusion, because they are often denied their legal capacity and have no access to legal procedures. The project includes exchange of experience and good practice between disability organisations, Universities and public administrations. Its main objectives are: Policy and legislation: develop a White Book on Legal Incapacitation and Access to Rights for people with intellectual disability with European minimum standards and recommendations (also published as easy-to-read version). Training of legal professionals and the public administration: develop a European Training Package to inform legal professionals, legal students and staff of the public administration about measures to improve the access to rights and justice for people with intellectual disability. Training and information of people with intellectual disability: easy-to-understand information explaining the rights of people with intellectual disability, for example in reference to legal incapacitation, but also regarding police or administrative procedures. Furthermore, easy-to-read information about the European strategy against social exclusion.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The project will focus on combating social exclusion amongst elderly people from black and ethnic minority groups. Black and minority ethnic (BME) elders are an extremely vulnerable group facing multiple social exclusion: through racism as well as age and poverty. Building on work that has been done under phase I, SEEM II will develop and promote solutions to improve service delivery for this special target group and identify strategies and examples of good practice across the EU 15 and the Candidate countries. Under phase I partners have identified that there is a pressing need for policy development for BME elders at all levels of governance. Therefore, a key part will be to develop and promote the status and voices of BME elders, and a greater understanding of their service needs, amongst policy makers at local, regional, national and European level.

SEEM II has the following aims: 1) Combat isolation of BME elders. 2) Improve consultation & involvement of BME elders & their organisations in service development & provision. 3) Raise profile of contribution made by BME elders, & of their needs. 4) Improve information about & access to services. 5) Share good practice in each city, country & Member States. 6) Support partner cities, accepting our different structures. 7) Disseminate project & results in each city, country & Member States. 8) Influence & inform Member State & European policy to take full account of BME elders.

Seem II will have the following concrete outputs: 1) 3 full partner meetings & minutes. 2) 12 consultation meetings with BME elders & short reports from each. 3) 2 Background reports from new partner cities. 4) 10 city-specific BME elders partner exchanges. 5) 1 evaluation report on each of 10 exchange visits. 6) Final evaluation report. 7) Extension of Phase I SEEM web-site. 8) Dissemination seminar in each partner city. 9) Booklet giving a voice to BME elders. 10) Good practice checklist. 11) Final Report for European Commission. 12) Seminar in Brussels, hosted by BME elders. 13) Article summarising project results. 14) 2,000 copies of initial flyer; 2,000 of final flyer

Institutional mechanisms

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Efforts to combat poverty are constantly being undermined by the difficulties of persuading people who live in severe poverty to play a key part in action and policy. There is therefore an urgent need to understand and help create conditions conducive to a dialogue between people living in poverty and the other players concerned. Our project will thus aim to make real progress on this issue of partnership with very poor populations in the two areas explored during Phase I: combating poverty amongst children and drawing up and evaluating national action plans. We will attempt to encourage persons living in poverty to take part wherever the dialogue is taking place. We will support those involved in such dialogue by means of European exchange schemes, especially by helping with their training. We will organise three seminars and issue a number of publications to make known what conditions need to be created so that persons living in poverty – including those hardest hit by exclusion - can participate and so that such participation helps to make combating poverty more effective and enables everybody to have access to basic rights.

La difficulté à faire des personnes vivant dans la grande pauvreté des acteurs essentiels des actions et des politiques compromet en permanence la réussite des efforts entrepris pour lutter contre la pauvreté. Comprendre et promouvoir les conditions d'un dialogue associant les personnes en situation de pauvreté et les autres acteurs concernés est donc une urgente nécessité. Notre projet visera donc à créer de réelles avancées sur cette question du partenariat avec les populations très pauvres, dans 2 domaines explorés dans la phase I : la lutte contre la pauvreté des enfants, et l'élaboration et l'évaluation des PANincl. Nous chercherons à renforcer la participation de personnes vivant dans la pauvreté dans tous les lieux de dialogue concernés. Nous soutiendrons par des échanges européens les acteurs engagés dans ces dialogues, en particulier en contribuant à leur formation. Nous ferons connaître (par 3 séminaires et plusieurs publications) les conditions à créer pour que la participation des personnes vivant dans la pauvreté soit possible, qu'elle concerne les plus exclues d'entre elles et qu'elle contribue à rendre la lutte contre la pauvreté plus efficace, permettant l'accès de tous aux droits fondamentaux.

Policy areas

Health and access to health care.

Institutional mechanisms

Collecting and sharing best practices with respect to contributions that the public health and health sector can make to promoting social inclusion. Contributing to policy development.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Despite the strong correlation between health and social exclusion, and the fact that health practitioners and those working in the field of social policy have a common agenda, there is limited awareness (also reflected in the NAPs) of the contributions that the public health and the health care sector can make to tackling social exclusion. The aim of the partnership is therefore to build on the information gained in Phase I and to establish a cross-national exchange and comparison of effective policies and integrated, transferable best practices that demonstrate how the public health and health sector in Europe can contribute to reducing social exclusion. The aim is also to ensure that the recommendations developed in Phase I get taken up in future NAPs, and to foster greater collaboration between the social and the health policy sector by providing examples of how such partnerships can take place. Concrete outputs will be three project meetings, a report on good practice from the public health sector, a report on unequal access to health care services, a final report that includes reports of five trans-national exchange visits and contributions for socially excluded people, as well as a final Seminar/Exhibit and an on-line database.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The issue the partnership addresses is to combat social exclusion of immigrant women of 40 years and older via the (re)integration into the labour market and improvement of the financial situation now and after retirement. The objectives of the proposal are: (Develop tools for) transnational exchange of knowledge, experiences, best practices and strategies to (re)integrate 40+ immigrant women into the labour market and to improve their financial situation now and after retirement. Facilitate transnational knowledge exchange between NGOs, policy makers and researchers from different EU countries and further development of transnational partnerships and European networks. Put the issue higher on national and EU agendas. Collect new material and increase knowledge on the composition, diversity, labour market position (including undeclared work) and financial position of the target group. Increase knowledge on the functioning of the exclusion mechanisms of gender, ethnicity and age and the intersection of these exclusion mechanisms. Concrete outputs are: Kick off meeting with project partners, which results in a detailed work programme Three workshops with 15 experts each. Participants come from different European regions. 21 papers with overviews dealing with the topics under discussion in the workshops. 1-day European conference with 80 participants from different European regions (working languages are English, French and German) Agenda setting conference report and recommendations based on research and experiences from the target group, policy makers and researchers Networks of NGO s, researchers and policy makers

Forum for Holistic Integration (Fohoin) is developed in a collaboration between local and regional frontline institutions in Italy, France, Scotland, Germany, Sweden and Denmark, 1 national association in Austria and a research centre in Denmark. In phase 2, an association in Romania and Riga City Council in Latvia also takes part. Their common aim is to help homeless with severe social and abusing problems in being integrated in to the society. Each of the partners have their special local conditions, target groups, expertise, attitudes and political frameworks. As the programme underlines access for women, ethnic minorities and disabled persons, it is important to mention also to mention that they all are parts of the target groups. The idea of FOHOIN is to create an inspiring exchange of experience and practice between the participants and bring their informations up to a comparable and general level, where they can contribute to the mainstream policies and to the process of implementation and coming revisions of the national action plans and the Joint Report.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The project addresses the issue of assessing quality in public social services. It covers a broad range of types of service and groups of users, i.e. people with mental health problems, mental disabilities, physical disabilities, sensorial disabilities. It takes a view of quality that focuses on the user, and on inclusion as the end mission of services. It will build on the work of Phase I, which has produced a generic framework for quality assessment developed in a bottom up approach from, and through the exchange of experience among, the service providers of the partnership working together with the two research/policy partners. The objective of the project is to: design and test quality assessment tools, in the form of quality indicators, that would reflect the user focus, for each of the four different types of service covered; develop a generic framework more generally applicable across different services for people with disabilities or even other types of social public services; disseminate and promote good practices regarding quality and the taking-up of quality assessment at provider and at policy level in the context of NAPs. Its concrete outputs will include good practice guides for quality assessment for each of the services covered addressed primarily to practitioners and policy makers in the services concerned; a synthesis and policy report and quality indicators that would of interest to a broader audience; a variety of dissemination activities at country and EU level through country-based workshops and an EU level dissemination seminar.

Policy areas

Immigration and ethnic diversity, Access to culture, Promoting a rights-based approach.

Institutional mechanisms

Involving and supporting stakeholders, Participation and empowerment.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The issue addressed by the Phase II proposal is how inclusion of immigrant communities and ethnic minorities can be enhanced through the promotion of cultural expression so that subsequently NAPs-incl may be informed on related policy. Objectives include the formulation, pilot-testing and evaluation of best practice along a number of core themes : a) reinforcing networking of associations and NGOs representing the target groups; b) raising visibility of the target groups cultural capital; c) capacity building of the minority communities through training and suitable support; d) promoting cultural interchange between host community and target groups. Each partner country will assume responsibility for one of the above themes at transnational level, being the horizontal thematic coordinator and evaluator of all project actions falling under the theme, to maximise transnational exchange. Concrete outputs include the publication of a Best Practice Guide based on the project experience, a web site, various reports of studies, 4 international workshops, an electronic conference, training seminars and various cultural events, products and support structures.

Member States involved

Spain, Greece, Finland, Italy, Portugal, United Kingdom.

Policy areas

Disadvantaged urban and rural communities, Promoting a rights-based approach.

Institutional mechanisms

Mainstreaming poverty across all policy areas, developing local anti poverty strategies, developing indicators, participation and empowerment.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

.The project is intended to capitalise on the results achieved in the first phase, translating the analyses and work carried out into strategic targets and joint action which can be transferred to a Community context. It therefore aims to promote: cooperation and exchange of knowledge and experience to foster mutual understanding within the framework of the open coordination method and the approaches adopted in the various national action plans; empowerment of the various players active at local and European level in order to streamline activities and encourage integrated and innovative approaches to combating poverty and social exclusion. The practical activities in pursuit of the aims defined above are broken down as follows: a horizontal phase of transnational networking which will involve all the project's partners in adopting multidisciplinary and pluralistic approaches to social inclusion; preparation of shared methodologies and instruments to help in understanding the regional structure and validating the idea of local capital as an indispensable factor in a strategy for combating social exclusion; management of pilot activities designed and run as laboratories in order to validate the project's approach and strategy on a Community scale; drafting of the final document, which will comprise two separate sections: a methodological, strategic and political section conceived as suggested by the White Paper on welfare policies and one taking the form of an operating handbook for implementing local inclusion initiatives; management of horizontal and vertical mainstreaming activities: working discussion group, seminars, dissemination of the results; evaluation.

Il progetto intende capitalizzare i risultati conseguiti nel corso della prima fase del progetto, traducendo le analisi e le elaborazioni condotte in indicazioni strategiche ed operative comuni, trasferibili in ambito comunitario. In questa logica, l'intervento mira quindi a promuovere: - La cooperazione e lo scambio di conoscenze ed esperienze funzionali a generare apprendimenti comuni nel quadro del metodo del coordinamento aperto e degli approcci adottati nei diversi National Action Plan. - l'empowerment dei diversi interlocutori attivi a livello locale ed europeo, con l'intento di accrescere l'efficienza delle azioni gestite e promuovere l'adozione di approcci integrati ed innovativi di lotta alla povertà e all'esclusione sociale. L'articolazione delle azioni funzionali al perseguimento degli obiettivi definiti si declina come segue: - una fase trasversale di networking transnazionale, che coinvolgerà tutti i partner del progetto e funzionale all'adozione di approcci multidisciplinari e pluralistici al tema dell'inclusione sociale; - l'elaborazione di metodologie e strumenti condivisi, utili a leggere la struttura territoriale e valorizzare l'idea del capitale locale come fattore imprescindibile nella formulazione di strategie di lotta all'esclusione sociale; - La gestione di azioni pilota pensate e gestite come veri e propri laboratori di sperimentazione, in grado di validare l'approccio e la strategia di intervento del progetto su scala comunitaria. - L'elaborazione del documento finale che si articolerà in due sezioni distinte: Una prima sezione di natura metodologica, strategica, politica, pensata quale proposta di libro bianco nelle politiche di welfare; Una seconda costruita come manuale operativo per l'attivazione di iniziative locali di inclusione. - La gestione di interventi di mainstreaming orizzontale e verticale: working discussion group, seminari, diffusione dei risultati. - Valutazione

This project aims to form a network to improve housing for groups at risk in large urban housing markets by integrated customer-oriented forms of cooperation in housing stock policy. Triangular forms of cooperation between local administrations, housing providers and social services are to be examined for effectiveness and efficiency. The results will be presented in the form of good and best practices in European cities. A summary report of these good and best practices in seven cities (in EU Member States and two acceding countries) also contains a handbook on criteria and definitions.

Das hier vorgeschlagene Projekt zielt drauf ab, ein Netzwerk zu bilden, das eine Verbesserung der Wohnversorgung von Risikogruppen auf großstädtischen Wohnungsmärkten durch integrierte, kundenorientierte Kooperationsformen in der Wohnungsbestandspolitik erreichen will. Kooperationen in einem Triangel aus lokaler Verwaltung, Wohnungsversorger und sozialen Diensten werden auf ihre Effektivität und Effizienz hin untersucht. Zur Darstellung dienen good and best practices in europäischen Großstädten. Ein zusammenführender Bericht zu diesen good and best practice in sieben Städten (in EU-Ländern incl. 2 Beitrittsländern) enthält auch ein Handbuch zu den entwickelten Kriterien und Definitionen.

Policy areas

Child and family poverty.

Institutional mechanisms

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The partnership is addressing honour related violence in patriarchal families, the violence that many girls and women are suffering from their own families. The problem of honour related violence (HRV) in Europe is widespread and it is clearly closely related to issues of poverty and social exclusion. Furthermore, there is a lack of co-operation between the actors involved in the work to prevent HRV at both national and international levels, putting the target groups at further risks and the groups deeper into social exclusion. The main objectives are first, to facilitate and speed up the exchange of learning and formulation of policies in preventing HRV in Europe. Focus will be on exchanging policies and best practice, train trainers, and form strategies for implementing findings into policymaking. Secondly, the project seeks to develop methods of co-operation on national and international levels in a cross-sectoral perspective. Concrete outputs include: national and international trainings and networks of trainers and mobile expert teams; a conference on best practice, manual describing best practice,

Police conference, national trainings for police, social services, teachers, judiciary etc, implementation of results into policies, and website.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Le projet vise à l'élargissement d'un réseau pan-européen (dix pays représentés) dédié à l'étude des solutions pour lutter contre le risque d'exclusion sociale des immigrés/ées, intégré horizontalement avec l'analyse de l'influence des thèmes de la dignité et des droits humains, celui de l'accès à la langue et à la culture locale, et surtout de l'impact sur les hommes et les femmes dans chaque élément du processus d'intégration. Deux réseaux territoriaux (Méditerranée et Baltique) constitués par instituts de recherche, écoles pour adultes, ONG, administrations locales et victimes de l'exclusion, et deux réseaux transnationaux coopéreront pour le repérage de bonnes pratiques et de nouvelles méthodes pour le développement et la mise en oeuvre des PNA; un panel d'expert d'une section du CCRE examinera et sélectionnera au niveau le plus haut les produits repérés en assurant ensuite leur diffusion auprès du plus grand nombre d'acteurs du processus décisionnel. Réalisations concrètes: deux conférences (à mi-parcours et finale), quatre séminaires locaux, la rédaction et publication d'un cahier par an par la section du CCRE, l'élargissement du site Internet et la rédaction des rapports spécifiques.

The project aims at setting up a European network dedicated to study ways of combatting immigrants' risk of social exclusion through the development of a gender approach of social inclusion in order to assess the gender impact of each stage of the process. A mainstreaming approach will also be applied for the study of two other priority areas : dignity and human rights and access to language and local culture, both considered as basic tools for stimulating an active participation of people suffering social exclusion. The expected concrete results of the project are : enforcement and extension of the transnational partnership for the implementation of Phase II; collection and exchange of data between partners; setting up of gender balanced local teams (public authorities, study centres, NGO) responsible for the analysis and the definition of new implementation methods of the NAPsincl.; two seminars, writing and publication of a report on the gender dimension of immigrants' risk of social exclusion and on adopted best practices to combat social exclusion.

Institutional mechanisms

Main objectives / Summary of the project

This project is concerned with disadvantaged urban areas in European Port Cities. A particular feature of our joint proposal will be the close connection of ethnographic research and the development of practice-oriented programmes directed towards empowering local groups of disadvantaged actors. These actors have been subjected to poverty and social exclusion in the course of the effects of current processes of global transformation. This project focuses on the economic aspects of urban subsistence as well as on the cultural resources and strategies related to it. A key objective will be to take stock and re-evaluate this cultural knowledge in order to develop new strategies of empowerment in close cooperation with the actors themselves. Case studies will be conducted in Algeciras, Ceuta, Dublin, Hamburg, London and Salonica. Partners involved are university institutions, focusing on intensive ethnographic research, as well as local NGOs, who will be developing and applying innovative, research-based programmes of actor-oriented action.

Policy areas

Other. The project addresses social inclusion within the context of 2 key policy areas : the role of main stream services and the engagement of all social partners.

Institutional mechanisms

Mainstreaming poverty across all policy areas, developing local anti poverty strategies, involving and supporting stakeholders, evaluating the impact of policies, participation and empowerment from the perspective of local authorities.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

The key issue our project addresses is the capacity of local authorities, in partnership with other local agencies and local communities, to promote a more effective response to problems of poverty and social exclusion, and to assist in implementing the NAPs. Through a programme of cross-national Inquiry visits on key issues for local social inclusion strategy, and a set of cross-national peer reviews in the participating countries, the project will identify and explore good practice, and develop and test benchmarks to improve the contribution of local authorities, working with their partners and with excluded groups, in tackling social exclusion and in implementing the NAPs. The findings from the project will be discussed at a transnational conference at the end of the project, and disseminated in the form of a toolkit and good practice advice for local authorities.

Main objectives / Summary of the project

Based on experiences achieved in Phase I the transnational partnership will continue to identify and discuss successful coordinated approaches for stable quality employment of vulnerable groups and individuals. A job is seen as the best safeguard against social exclusion by most Member States in their NAPs/incl. An important barrier to social inclusion is the lack of coordination among the different agencies involved in helping the excluded to enter and remain in the labour market. In Phase II the main issue of the partnership will be to analyse and develop successful methods, effective structures and quality standards that will deliver good practice of coordinated approaches for achieving paid employment (incl. self-employment) for vulnerable groups. The partnership will continue to present and discuss its results with stakeholders and policy makers and will promote mutual learning in relation to the Social Policy Agenda.
