

PORTUGAL

Date of data collection or reference period	National weighted averages of consumer prices are calculated on a daily basis. For the purposes of the weekly Oil Bulletin the Portuguese authorities report the weighted average price for Monday of the week of each petroleum product.
Reporting body	Directorate General for Energy and Geology
Reporting price discounts on motor fuels	Portuguese authorities take into account the volumes of fuel sold with discounts in the previous year and the respective discounts applied. The reporting operators provide on annual basis information about the total volume sold with discount in each retail station, by type of discount applied and by each type of fuel sold (such as fleet cards or fidelity cards, other cards to members of automotive clubs or football teams).
Market coverage and data sources	Data provided by all the retail stations operators in the mainland of Portugal (around 2810 retail stations), which are registered on the web platform operated by the Portuguese authorities. Oil companies represent 70,0% of retailers, large stores (supermarket) 9,9% and "the others" 20,2%.
Price averages	Weighted average based on volumes sold in the previous year, by each reporting operator.
Biofuels	End of tax exemptions for large producers of biofuels or biofuels blend. Only small dedicated producers continue to have the tax exemption. For 2018, Law n.º114/2017, of 29 december of the Portuguese State Budget maintains the 7.5% incorporation in energy content for the set of diesel and gasoline product, repealing paragraph d) and maintaining c) of Decree-Law n.º 117/2010, of 25 october. The specific goals for diesel and gasoline was repealed by Decree-Law n.º 69/2016, of 3 November (Article 3).
Other indirect taxes reported	Road Service Contribution was created by the Law nr. 55/2007, of 31 August with the purpose of financing the national road network applicable to gasoline and diesel oil. Carbon tax applied since 2015 (Law n.º.82-D/2014 of 31 December).
Other specific remarks by national administrations	In 2009 Portugal introduced the web platform www.precoscombustiveis.dgeg.pt , where retail stations operators located on the mainland of Portugal, are obliged to report the retail prices of fuels sold in their retail stations, before applied at the fuel pump. In addition, the owners or operators, are required to report, annually, the volume sales (also considering the volumes with discounts) made in their retail stations, by product.