Projects & Practice

This is where you can find examples of good practice in rural development from across the EU Member States, including examples of transnational cooperation, and covering a wide range of themes and projects. The database is currently being developed with new examples for the 2014-2020 delivery period, but will be available soon on this page.

The database of projects from the 2007-2013 period has now been archived, but can be accessed on the archived ENRD website.

We are always looking for new examples, so if you would like to propose good practice in rural development, please contact us at info@enrd.eu. We are interested in all kinds of projects and initiatives, as it is not only the results but often the method of delivery that can provide insight into improving collaboration, delivery or understanding.
