WHAT IS THE EU ECOLABEL?

The EU Ecolabel distinguishes products and services that meet high environmental and performance standards. Products and services awarded the EU Ecolabel carry the Flower logo, allowing consumers to identify them easily. Every product carrying the Flower must pass rigorous tests, with results verified by an independent body. While other environmental labels cover specific environmental aspects such as recyclability or energy efficiency, the Flower stands for lower environmental impacts throughout a product's life cycle – from the use of materials to make them to final disposal.

The OFFICIAL
Ecolabel of the European Union!

Consumers can find it across the European Union, Norway, Liechtenstein and Iceland. Today the EU Ecolabel covers a wide range of products and services, with further product groups being continuously added.

Tourist Accommodation & Campsites

DID YOU KNOW?

Tourist Accommodation Services and Campsites can be awarded the Flower.

Often located in pleasant but fragile surroundings, campsites and tourist accommodation can place a large burden on water and energy resources. Local species are also at risk through habitat loss, careless human activities and improper waste disposal. By choosing an EU ecolabelled tourist accommodation service for your holidays, you are contributing towards the protection of the environment by encouraging:

- ★ a reduction in water and energy use
- ★ less waste
- ★ the use of renewable resources
- ★ greater demand for local and organic food

So whether you are looking for a comfortable hotel or a rustic campsite, the EU Ecolabel can guide you to one that is more respectful towards the environment. EU Ecolabelled holidays – better by nature.

The Flower is the official sign of ENVIRONMENTAL INTEGRITY recognised throughout Europe.
