

ASSESSMENT OF SOURCES AND METHODS USED IN THE PROVISION OF BASIC INFORMATION FOR THE CALCULATION OF SPECIFIC INDICATORS FOR A65 PURPOSES

COUNTRY: AT

Version: 29 March 2017

CONTEXT

1. This report is written in the context of the implementation of Article 65 and Annex XI of the Staff Regulations of Officials and Conditions of Employment of Other Servants of the European Union, as most recently amended by Regulation 1023/2013 of the European Parliament and of the Council.
2. Article 12 of Annex XI states that "...It shall be the task of Eurostat to monitor the quality of basic data and statistical methods used to work out the factors taken into account for the update of remuneration. In particular, it shall make any assessments or carry out any studies required for such monitoring..."
3. A methodology manual has been developed to describe the calculation of specific indicators in accordance with Article 65 of the EU Staff Regulations. There have been various editions over time; the most recent version is version A6465/14/26rev2, dated May 2016.
4. This methodological documentation is supplemented with interpretation guidelines and specific agreements for individual Member States reached during each annual data collection exercise.
5. With effect from 2010, detailed documentation is drawn up for each Member State which aims to give a full description of the manner in which basic data is compiled and transmitted to Eurostat to allow the calculation of Specific Indicators.

Twenty-two of these draft "country manuals" (at different stages of completion) were presented at the meeting of the Working Group on Articles 64 and 65 of the Staff Regulations in Luxembourg in March 2015. A further progress report was reviewed at the meeting in Luxembourg in March 2016.
