

Sophie Lehner has been working at the Statistics Department of the Austrian Federal Economic Chamber since 2015. She has many years of experience working with statistics and official statistics in particular. The focus of her work are mainly business statistics and tourism statistics.

She holds a master's degree in technical mathematics with particular emphasis on mathematical economics from the Vienna University of Technology.