

Biruta Sloka, Doctor in economics, holds multiple positions in the statistical field. She is a Professor at the University of Latvia teaching courses “Statistics”, “Multivariate Analysis”, “Quantitative Methods in Decision Making”, “Research Methods and Organisation” and other. Ms Sloka is also President of Association of Latvia’s Statisticians, Member of Statistics Council of Republic of Latvia as well as part of scientific committees of international conferences and editorial boards of several scientific journals. She has wide experience in supervising several research projects and doctoral thesis. She was leading EuroFaculty Riga centre (an international project of Council of Baltic Sea States – CBSS) and was advisor to six ministers of economy and two ministers of education and science.

Biruta.Sloka@lu.lv

Biruta@eurofaculty.lv