

Idefonso Villan Criado has 35 years of experience in official statistics. Since 2002, he has been Head of the Judicial Statistics Unit in the General Council of the Judiciary of Spain. Previously he had worked for 23 years as Director of various divisions of the Spanish National Institute, the last being the Population Registers and Census division. Mr Villan Criado is a member of the International Statistical Institute. At national level, he is a member of the High Council of Statistics responsible for the elaboration of national statistical programmes. He is also member of the National Committee for Judicial Statistics. Mr Villan Criado is the author or co-author of several publications, some of them in the field of population statistics and statistical data protection.