

An access point, in postal statistics, is a physical facility, including letter boxes provided for the public either on the public highway or at the premises of the providers of postal and related services, where postal items may be deposited by customers for processing in postal and related services.

Related concepts

- Letter box
- Place at which only stamps can be bought
- Post office
- Post office box