Mixed Competence
European Union Vote

The European Union and its Member States (EUMS) noted that a total of 11 new substances have been nominated for inclusion on the tentative scheduled for 2011. Taking into account that this amount of substances could be beyond the JMPR capacity the EUMS would like to propose a reduction in the number from 11 to 7 or 8 active substances for 2011. Therefore, manufacturers and nominating countries for new chemicals nominated for 2011 (dinotefuran, chlorfenapyr, penthiopyrad, isopyrazam, saflufenacil, propylene oxide, fluxapyroxad, flutriafol, cyantraniliprole, ametoctradin and acetamiprid) will need to consider which chemicals can be moved to the 2012 schedule. Among them, ametoctradin, acetamiprid and chlorfenapyr have a first priority for the EUMS to be evaluated at JMPR 2011 as they have already some EU MRLs set.
