Nurses' training and core competences: From digital skills to continuity of care & leadership skills

3rd Webinar EUHPP Thematic Networks 2020

Our thematic network on profiling and training of the workforce of the future: Every year, the European Commission's Health Policy Platform hosts three Thematic Networks led by health stakeholders. These temporary networks are set up to produce a Joint Statement within a year's time in a policy area of common interest. Jointly with EHMA, Health First Europe is currently coordinating the thematic network dedicated to "Profiling and training the health care workers of the future". The goal of our thematic network is to support the European Commission and its Members States in profiling the healthcare workers' needs for the future of care, identifying and improving their core competences and pointing out their critical role in the debate about health system reforms, digitalisation and new models of care

Introduction to the scope of the webinar: The topic of the third webinar is "Nurses' training and core competences: from digital skills to continuity of care and leadership skills". The webinar aims at discovering how health care systems and policymakers can support nurses' education and training to develop their core skills for delivering care in 2020 and beyond. During the webinar speakers will be presenting case studies on core skills and policy actions to enhance nurses' indispensable role in ensuring continuity of care as well as in identify and implementing of best practice models and innovative solutions to improve patient care.

Tentative programme of the webinar:
