

Q&As

1. Is there any financial support from the European Commission foreseen to finance this event?

Yes, as stated in the guidelines, the details of the financial support that could be provided by DG Environment, in specific and justified circumstances, will be agreed with the selected applicant(s). For guidance purposes only, applicants can assume a maximum value of such support of up to €20 000, all inclusive. We would like to underline that the main costs should be undertaken by the organisers - applicants are required to declare that appropriate resources for the organisation of the event will be provided by them if their proposal is selected.

2. Should the organisation that is submitting an application also send a technical proposal together with a financial proposal?

Regarding the technical proposal, the only mandatory information that needs to be submitted is listed in the application form. However, applicants are free to enclose any other information they consider relevant in order to present their proposal.
