Una considerazione sull'ambiente

The European Commission's science and knowledge service, Joint Research Centre, pays special attention to ensure that we are as environmentally friendly as possible by:

- Providing eco-bags made of 100% recycled material.
- Printing our publications on recycled, chlorine-free paper from sustainably managed forests, whenever possible.
- Providing water bottles for all visitors to Open Day (made of non-toxic plastic PETG) which you can fill with water from the fountains installed across the site.
- Using utensils at the food outlets that are made of bioplastic.

These are just some of the small, but important, gestures to respect both our environment and community. You too can help the JRC to be environmentally friendly by disposing of all rubbish in the correct containers provided.
