The conflict in Syria continues to drive the largest refugee crisis in the world. Over 5.6 million Syrians are registered as refugees in neighbouring countries with the crisis going into its 8th year. Despite the move of hundreds of thousands of Syrian refugees to Europe in 2015/2016, the primary burden of hosting the refugees continues to fall on the neighbouring countries in the region. Lebanon (1 million) and Jordan (650,000) host the largest numbers of registered refugees per capita in the world. In Lebanon, one in five people is a refugee, while one in 15 is a refugee in Jordan. Meanwhile, Turkey continues to host the largest number of refugees in the world, 3.5 million. Iraq and Egypt continue to host large numbers of Syrian refugees along with refugees from many other countries. Many of the refugees have now been in these host countries for many years and struggle to make ends meet. They are increasingly vulnerable and face extremely high rates of poverty.

THE TRUST FUND

Since its establishment in December 2014, an increasing share of the EU’s non-humanitarian aid for Syrian refugees and their host countries is provided through the EU Regional Trust Fund in Response to the Syrian Crisis, the ‘Madad’ Fund. With contributions and pledges from 22 EU Member States and Turkey, amounting to now more than €160 million, and contributions from various EU instruments, the Fund has reached a total volume of €1.6 billion to date.

Large programmes focusing on education, livelihoods, health, socio-economic support, water and waste water infrastructure – benefitting both refugees and their host communities – have already been approved by the Fund’s Board, for a total of more than €1.55 billion. Of this, more than €1 billion have been contracted in over 55 projects to the Trust Fund’s implementing partners on the ground, now reaching more than 2 million beneficiaries.

OBJECTIVES

- Contribute to the goal of No Lost Generation by getting all refugee children and vulnerable children in host communities into quality education with adequate protection and equal access for girls and boys.
- Reduce the pressure on countries hosting refugees by investing in livelihoods, social cohesion, health, water and sanitation, and by providing support to access vocational training and jobs for refugees and host communities.

HOW DOES IT FUNCTION?

- Regional scale & synergy driven allowing for multi-country & multi-partner actions.
- Building bridges across the humanitarian-development nexus to sustain the crisis response with longer-term programmes.
- Building strong partnerships through inclusive governance with host countries, donors, agencies and NGOs.
- Adaptable to developments in the region: Designed to respond effectively to crises & displacement as they unfold, extended in 2016 to Iraq’s internally displaced people & refugees in the Western Balkans.
- Critical mass and efficiency: Designed to obtain the highest possible real-life impact for beneficiaries through large programmes and low transaction cost (less than 1%).
- Forward planning: Potential post-crisis funding tool in support of voluntary return & reconstruction inside Syria once a political transition is firmly underway.

IMPACT

The first 29 projects of the Trust Fund are already showing substantial results:

• 256,350 refugee and host community children have access to quality education
• 14,232 refugee and host community youth have access to higher education and vocational training, and 15,559 more should gain access in the coming months.
• 490,176 vulnerable people have access to protection services including access to information campaigns and awareness sessions, psychosocial support, and life skills programmes, as well as mine clearance actions.
• 157,013 refugees and members of local communities benefit from improved economic self-reliance and livelihood opportunities through vocational, employability and skills trainings, SME support and access to the job market. 397,706 more are targeted.
• 442,564 refugees and vulnerable people from local communities have already received medical treatment and essential medicines, with a capacity to reach up to 1,116,185 people.
• 14,058 refugees and members of local communities have access to water and sanitation services, including access to safe water and hygiene promotion sessions, a number that should increase to 274,241 targeted.

PROJECT EXAMPLES

EDUCATION AND PROTECTION: In cooperation with AVSI Foundation, Terre des Hommes and War Child, ‘Back to the Future’ provides Syrian refugee and local community children with improved access to formal education so that they can either start or resume their schooling. The project also seeks to raise awareness about children’s right to education and train education professionals in Lebanon and Jordan.

The project reaches 98,030 children and 370 education professionals. The EU Trust Fund supports the project by providing €12 million in funding.

HEALTH CARE: In cooperation with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), this project provides essential, life-saving care to Syrian refugees in Lebanon, through referral mechanisms that allow them Syrians to get better access to lifesaving and emergency hospital care.

This project reaches 140,000 patients and is funded with €15 million from the EU Trust Fund.

RESILIENCE AND LIVELIHOODS: Through a truly European partnership including GIZ (Germany), Expertise France (France), Agence française de coopération médias (France), Agence española de cooperación internacional (Spain) and Cooperación Española (Spain), the ‘QUDRA’ I.A. project increases the economic self-reliance of youth in refugee camps and host communities, covering Lebanon, Jordan, Iraq and Turkey.

The project targets 975,000 young people and receives €74 million in funding from the EU Regional Trust Fund.
