EU Award for Roma Integration in the Western Balkans and Turkey, 2019 - “Unknown Heroes”

1. Background

With an estimation of 12 million living in Europe, the Roma minority is one of the largest ethnic minorities in Europe. About 1 million Roma live in the Western Balkans and 2.8 million in Turkey, sharing a rich culture and history that is inextricably linked to Europe, but have also faced a long history of exclusion. Yet today many Roma still face severe forms of racism, discrimination, social exclusion and poverty, thus improving their situation continues to be a key priority for the European Commission.

Moreover, the Roma women face a double discrimination, being discriminated by being Roma and then by being women. Roma women in the Western Balkans and Turkey face exclusion from policy-making, difficulties to access education and employment, absence of qualitative health care and domestic violence. Despite this, Roma women are key factors behind their families and Roma integration, being aware of the difficulties that the Roma population suffers and in many occasions pushing their communities toward self-organization and advocacy actions.

The EU is pushing to improve the social integration of Roma into society and to provide tangible results on the ground. The European Union is also providing substantial funds for social integration measures through the Instrument for Pre-accession Assistance.

The Enlargement countries have adopted strategic action plans, on Roma integration. Important work is done through national and local CSOs and individuals/activists, whose work is providing the first support to the Roma communities.

Most of the efforts focus on measures to increase access to education and to decrease drop-out rates, to foster employment opportunities, and to improve health and housing conditions, particularly by ensuring access to public services, civil documentation and registration.

These efforts are implemented at grassroots level often carried out individually by members of Roma communities, often women who despite their successes still are unknown to the public.

Honouring these efforts, since 2014, the DG NEAR Award on Roma Integration is raising the visibility of existing challenges faced by Roma in the enlargement countries, the important work of CSOs and activists in support of Roma integration, that is a key enlargement priority as part of the area on fundamental rights.

1As it is most commonly used in EU policy documents and discussions, the term "Roma" refers to a variety of groups of people who describe themselves as Roma, Gypsies, Travellers, Manouches, Ashkali, Egyptian, Sinti and other, without denying the specificities of these groups.
The EU Award on Roma Integration 2019 is dedicated to Roma women who brought significant changes to their communities, and alternatively to key Roma women in civil society organisations.
