A. Context, purpose and scope of the evaluation

Context

This evaluation is part of DG NEAR's multiannual Evaluation plan and will be launched in 2018. It is to take stock of existing findings on support to Civil Society in the Neighbourhood and Enlargement regions and cover existing gaps. It will inform reflections on past experience since 2007, lessons learnt and future policy and financial assistance.

The EU values a dynamic, pluralistic and competent civil society and recognizes the importance of constructive relations between states and Civil Society Organisations (CSOs). With the 2012 communication "The roots of democracy and sustainable development: Europe's engagement with civil society in external relations", the Commission chose a more strategic approach to its engagement with CSOs giving due consideration to country-specificities, particularly in highly volatile political contexts. The communication puts forward three priorities for EU support: (1) increasing CSOs' capacity to perform their roles as independent development actors, (2) promotion of conducive environments for CSOs and (3) promotion of structured participation of CSOs in domestic policies, in EU programming cycles and internationally. With the Neighbourhood Policy (2004) and its subsequent reviews (2011 and 2015), the EU has recognised the evolving role of civil society in the Neighbourhood region, and committed to diversifying outreach to CSOs. In Enlargement countries, the EU has been committed to ensuring the involvement of civil society in the approximation to EU standards and accession negotiations.

Reflecting the evolution in policy frameworks in all three regions, Enlargement, Neighbourhood South and Neighbourhood East, the EC has enhanced its support to civil society which is provided at both regional and national level. Targeted support has included strengthening CSOs' capacities, support to platforms and thematic networks. Over time, the Commission has also increasingly introduced the mainstreaming of support to CS within its sectoral assistance, (e.g. in the fields of rule of law, environment, energy, youth). Such civil society engagement can involve anything from improved access to information related to policy-making as well as to civil society providing input and participating actively in the identification of priorities and implementation of domestic policies and programmes. EU funding for CSOs under sector programmes typically aims at enhancing the role and capacities of CSOs in the respective sector (e.g. the ability to produce evidence-based data) with a view to ensure that domestic policies and EU's support meet people's actual needs. Both geographical instruments and thematic instruments have been used to fund support to CSOs.

1 The EU considers considered CSOs to include "all non-state, not-for-profit structures, non-partisan and non-violent, through which people organise to pursue shared objectives and ideals, whether political, cultural, social or economic. Operating from the local to the national, regional and international levels, they comprise urban and rural, formal and informal organisations. These include membership-based, cause-based and service-oriented CSOs. Among them, community-based organisations, non-governmental organisations, faith-based organisations, foundations, research institutions, Gender and LGBT organisations, cooperatives, professional and business associations, and the not-for-profit media. Trade unions and employers' organisations, the so-called social partners, constitute a specific category of CSOs.

Purpose and scope

The evaluation is to cover the period from 2007-2018 (in terms of Decision years). The geographical scope will be current IPA II beneficiaries and ENI partner countries. In that regard, it is to be noted that support to civil society in the Neighbourhood East region has not been the subject of any specific evaluations in recent years, unlike Western Balkans and Turkey and Neighbourhood South.

The evaluation will cover financial assistance provided and non-financial support, i.e. policy dialogue, consultations with CSOs, multi-stakeholder dialogue, provided at headquarters and in the field through the Delegations over the entire period.

The assessment will be made against the following evaluation criteria: relevance, effectiveness, impact, coordination, complementarity and coherence, efficiency and EU added value. It will look in particular at:

- The proper targeting of assistance, including outreach questions,
- The results and impact of the assistance – in terms of changes supported - over time and against the Commission's strategic objectives in the three regions,
- The extent to which differences in approaches and policy frameworks across the 3 regions (Neighbourhood East, South and candidates and potential candidates for enlargement) influenced those results,
- The level of coherence, coordination and complementarity of instruments (geographical and thematic) available to support to CS, and of delivery at bilateral and regional levels,
- The extent to which certain principles were applied in practice, e.g. mainstreaming.

The evaluation should also produce recommendations for future programming and policy purposes.

B. Better regulation

Consultation of citizens and stakeholders

A broad and inclusive consultation process of relevant stakeholders of this evaluation is required under the EU's Better Regulation guidelines. Considering the subject of the evaluation – support to Civil Society - the evaluation should seek to be inclusive and participatory. This could be done for example by capitalising on the events of CSO platforms / fora to collect data, and including feedback loops to countries visited and stakeholders consulted.

Staff at DG NEAR, DEVCO and the EEAS as well as staff in EU Delegations will be consulted.

External stakeholders for this evaluation include (to be further defined during Inception phase):
- CSO beneficiaries of EU assistance, e.g. national, regional thematic networks of CSOs and international platforms (e.g. the EaP Civil Society Forum, the CiviKos Platform in Kosovo), the EED, the Anna Lindh Foundation, local community-based CSOs, grass-root organisations, individual Human Rights Defenders, Civil Society Fellows, Business support organizations (BSOs), trade unions, etc.
- National/regional government representatives including: National IPA coordinators (NIPAC), National Coordinating Units in ENI countries, Ministry officials, media and other watchdog representatives etc.
- Relevant international stakeholders, e.g. Council of Europe.

They will be consulted via phone/email/face to face discussions and possibly through a survey. Up to 8 field visits are also foreseen.

Data collection and methodology

The evaluation should build on existing findings on the EU's support to civil society in the Enlargement and Neighbourhood regions and fill in the gaps.
