Social Summit for Fair Jobs and Growth – Proclamation of European Pillar of Social Rights

Together with President of the European Commission Jean-Claude Juncker, Sweden’s Prime Minister Stefan Löfven hosted a Social Summit in Gothenburg on 17 November 2017, focusing on promoting fair jobs and growth. It gathered heads of State and government, social partners and other key players.

On the Social Summit European Union leaders solemnly proclaimed the European Pillar of Social Rights. The Pillar

New Initiative to close the gender pay gap

On 20 November 2017 the Commission has adopted a new action plan to address the gender pay gap featuring 8 priority areas:

1. Improving the application of the equal pay principle
2. Combating segregation in occupations and sectors
3. Breaking the ceiling: initiatives to combat vertical segregation
4. Tackling the care penalty
5. Better valorising women’s skills, efforts and responsibilities
6. Fighting the fog: unveiling inequalities and stereotypes
7. Alerting and informing about the gender pay gap
8. Lending hands: enhancing partnerships to tackle the gender pay gap

Consultations of Social Partners

Recent and ongoing 2nd phase Social Partner Consultations under Article 154 TFEU

- On a possible revision of the Written Statement was first announced by President Juncker in his 2015 State of the Union Address and presented by the Commission in April 2017. The Proclamation was signed by President Juncker for the European Commission, President Tajani for the European Parliament and Prime Minister Ratas for the Council of the European Union.

On the eve of the Social Summit Prime Minister Löfven hosted an extraordinary meeting between EU leaders and European social partners. At this occasion social partners presented a joint statement in view of the Social Summit. The outcomes of the Social Summit were presented by President Juncker and Swedish Prime Minister Löfven in a concluding report which will serve to frame the follow-up of the Summit starting with the December European Council.

Hearings & High level meetings

Hearing on European Labour Authority and European Social Security Number
On 11/12 a hearing with Social Partners and national authorities took place concerning the future tasks and design of the European Labour Authority and the European Social Security Number which were announced for the 7th March 2018, as part of the social fairness package (together with the access to social protection initiative).

Legislative Acts

Carcinogen substances added to the Directive on the protection of workers from the risks related to exposure to carcinogens or mutagens at work (Directive 2004/37/EC)

On 7 December the Council amended Directive 2004/37/EC and added the following substances with limit values to Annex III of the Directive: hardwood dusts, certain chromium (VI) compounds, carcinogen refractory ceramic fibres, respirable crystalline silica dust, benzene, vinyl chloride monomer, ethylene oxide, 1,2-epoxypropane, acrylamide, 2-nitropropane, o-toluidine, 1,3-butadiene, hydrazine, bromoethylene. For two more groups of substances similar proposals are still in preparation.

Better working conditions for seafarers: Council approves agreement between social partners

On 7 December the Council approved a directive which gives legal effect to an agreement between EU social partners in the maritime sector. It will incorporate amendments to the Maritime Labour Convention into EU law. On this occasion the President of the Council stressed that this was an important step to improve the working conditions of seafarers and a successful example of sectorial social dialogue. The incorporation of the agreement into EU law will significantly improve working conditions of seafarers on EU flagged vessels and these seafarers will be covered by a mandatory financial security system.

Contributions from Social Partners

Central Government Administration

In November Eurofound has published a representativeness study for this sector. The study concludes that TUNED and EUPAE are the most representative social partner organisations in that sector which accounts for nearly 10 million employees. In a letter TUNED and EUPAE welcomed the result and asked the Commission for further information about the ongoing evaluation of the agreement on information and consultation rights that followed the Commission’s consultation of social partners.
Agriculture

Social partners in agriculture foster an EU debate on the social security for cross-national seasonal workers to overcome the challenges of Regulation 883/2004 (Coordination of social security systems). The hiring process of seasonal workers is a cornerstone for the agricultural social partners’ willingness to negotiate on the information to be provided by the employers to the workers: essential elements of the working relation must be known from the first day of the employment and the employers’ administrative burden must be tackled.

Electricity

The European Social Partners in the Electricity sector, EURELECTRIC, IndustriAll Europe and EPSU signed a joint statement to promote a just energy transition and facilitate a sustained decarbonisation of the sector as well as the entire European economy during their plenary meeting on 21 November. In order to promote this the Social Partners organised an event, “The Power Talks-The Just Transition to Clean Energy in Europe” that took place on 5 December 2017.”

Banking sector

European social partners signed on 17 November a “Joint Declaration on Telework in the European Banking Sector”. This new declaration addresses issues (e.g. data protection, cybersecurity, privacy, equipment use & training) relating to telework as a widespread form of work resulting from the advancing of technology and its impact on employment. The EU Social Partners now start working on a joint declaration on digitalisation.

Professional Football

During the plenary meeting of the SSDC Professional Football held in November, ECA, EPFL, FIFPro division Europe and UEFA agreed on a joint resolution on intermediaries. The resolution acknowledges that the current rules have “failed to address serious concerns in relation to the activities of intermediaries/agents”. The document also sets out general recommendations to be considered in order to ensure “higher professional and ethical standards” across Europe through e.g. “enhanced transparency, disclosures and accountability” as well as “appropriate and dissuasive sanctions in case of non-compliance” underpinned by “an efficient monitoring and enforcement framework”. The partners will follow-up on the subject in the year to come.

EUROFOUND

On 14 - 15 November 2017 the Foundation Forum, Eurofound’s flagship event gathered policymakers in the field of social, employment and work-related policies at Dublin Castle. The theme of the Foundation Forum 2017 was ‘Converging economies, diverging societies? - Upward convergence in the EU’. In the run-up to the Gothenborg Summit the forum led to interesting discussions how to balance social and economic aspects of upward convergence and on the role of social partners in this process which resulted in some key messages forwarded to the Summit.

EU-OSHA

Work-related injuries and illnesses cost EU €476 billion a year
The European Agency for Safety and Health at Work (EU-OSHA) together with the International Labour Organization (ILO) presented new estimates of the cost of poor occupational safety and health. The new findings reveal that work-related ill-health and injury is costing the European Union 3.3 % of its GDP. That's €476 billion every year which could be saved with the right occupational safety and health strategies, policies and practices. EU-OSHA and ILO have also developed a data visualisation tool which shows the global costs of work-related illnesses and accidents in an accessible way.

Healthy Workplaces Summit closed a successful campaign to promote a sustainable working life
The Healthy Workplaces Summit concluded EU-OSHA’s 2016-17 Healthy Workplaces for All Ages campaign. Leading experts in the occupational safety and health field and political decision makers gathered on 21 and 22 November in Bilbao, Spain, to reflect on the campaign achievements and share good practice, as well as legal and policy solutions identified throughout the 2-year campaign. Summit delegates were also informed about the upcoming 2018-19 campaign Healthy Workplaces Manage Dangerous Substances.

The online platform economy — OSH challenges and solutions
The rapid growth of the online platform economy is resulting in an increase in non-standard forms of work, such as casual work, on-call work and dependent self-employment. While on-line platforms can increase opportunities to access work; platform work may result in physical and psychosocial OSH risks for workers. A new report looks at these challenges and examines the policies and regulations in place or being developed — in Member States and at EU level — to address the risks.

Enterprise Europe Network OSH Award Winner Announced
The third edition of the Enterprise Europe Network (EEN) occupational safety and health (OSH) Award took place during the EEN Annual Conference in Tallinn on 21 November. The OSH Award is handed over by DG GROW, EASME and EU-OSHA as a recognition of the excellent work done by EEN members in promoting occupational safety and health. This year, the OSH Award went to "Between Generations", a project of EEN Centre at the Foundation for Promotion of Entrepreneurship, Lodz, Poland. Due to demographic changes and labour market in Poland the EEN created a Booklet focused on intergenerational cooperation (in line with EU-OSHA's Healthy Workplaces for All Ages campaign) and a questionnaire for self-assessment.
