Introduction

The Eurostat Labour Market Policy (LMP) database collects information on labour market interventions implemented by each of the EU Member States and Norway. Data are collected according to a comprehensive methodology, which classifies interventions into three main types – services, measures and supports – and into nine detailed categories according to the type of action (see below). Readers are recommended to refer to the LMP methodology ¹ for details of this classification scheme and definitions of terms used in this report.

The LMP database collects quantitative data on expenditure and participants for each intervention. These are published annually and are available online from the Eurostat website ². The quantitative data are complemented by a set of qualitative information describing each intervention. This represents an invaluable source of reference to support a harmonised approach to the classification of national interventions and to help interpret the detailed figures on expenditure and participants. These qualitative data are compiled into a series of Labour market policy statistics: Qualitative Reports and produced as separate volumes for each country/year.

The reports all have the same structure:

- Part A Introduction

- Part B Inventory of interventions - a list of all interventions reported for the relevant year, grouped by type of action and including a national language version of the intervention name.

- Part C Qualitative information by intervention - presents the available information about each intervention in three sections: Identification, Description, and Supplementary information. The Description contains seven sub-sections: Aim, Beneficiaries/participants, Action/instrument, Financing/support, Eligibility, Legal basis, and Recent changes. The Supplementary information contains eight sub-sections describing the breakdown of expenditure, target groups, the treatment of unemployment spells, receipt of benefits, planned duration and other characteristics of the intervention. Together, these items summarise the qualitative information collected through the LMP questionnaire.

- Part D Reference data - provides a description of the populations considered as reference data within the LMP database, giving national definitions of those considered as registered unemployed and other groups registered with the public employment services (PES).

- Part E Abbreviations

The qualitative information in the LMP database is updated annually with the contribution of delegates from each country and Eurostat cannot take responsibility for the validity of the content. The reports are published annually by Eurostat in English and reports for other years that are not currently in the online library can be produced on request.

C - Qualitative information by intervention

Identification

Country Denmark 2019 Category 1 - Labour market services
Intervention n°/name 5 Public employment services (Jobcentre)
Type of action: 1 - Labour market services

Description

Aim:

To provide jobseekers with general services during their search for a job.

Beneficiaries:

Jobseekers

Action/Instrument:

Public employment services are provided through job centres, where people are assisted during their search for a job. Here the unemployed are registered when they become unemployed.

The staff on the job centers arrange and carry through an individual and flexible course for each jobseeker. These courses take into consideration the needs of the jobseeker and the needs of the labor market. The purpose is that the jobseekers get ordinary employment as soon as possible. If ordinary employment isn't a direct possibility the course is arranged in preparation for the jobseeker to get closer to the labor market.

During the sequence of courses you hold meetings with the individual jobseeker who receives unemployment benefits every month for the first six months of unemployment. Afterwards you hold meeting with the individual jobseeker every quarter. For individual jobseekers who receives social assistance (unemployment) you hold meetings with the jobseeker three times in the first three months and afterwards four times every twelve months. During these meetings you determine the context of the individual employment effort. Under here it is agreed which types of activation the jobseeker is going to participate in, and the person can be instructed to seek concrete jobs. Finally you have to follow-up on the concrete agreements made during the process.

The public employment service also include service to companies who are looking for labour.

Identification

Country	Denmark	2019	Category	1 - Labour market services
Intervention n°/name	1	Unemployment insurance
Type of action:	8.1.1 - Unemployment insurance 8.2 - Partial unemployment benefits 8.3 - Part-time unemployment benefits

Description

Aim:

To provide income support to insured unemployed.

Beneficiaries:

Employees and self-employed persons who are members of an unemployment insurance fund and who satisfy the conditions for receiving daily cash benefits in the event of unemployment.

Action/Instrument:

The unemployment-benefits system is a monthly-based disbursement system. Benefits are calculated in hours and paid out for an entire calendar month at a time.

In general, unemployment benefit will be paid at a rate of 90 percent of the recipient's former income from employment, however a ceiling applies. Graduates (for whom special qualifying criteria apply) will receive 71.5 per cent of the maximum rate, while graduates who are also parents will receive 82 per cent of the maximum rate.

The benefit period is 2 years within a 3-year period with an option to prolong the benefit period by up to 1 year by working for a period of half a year during the benefit period. Hours worked are recorded in an "employment account" that can be exchanged for unemployment benefits at a ratio of 1:2. A tool has been created on jobnet.dk where the benefit period can be calculated.

During this period the beneficiaries have a right and duty to receive various offers of training/education. Members under the age of 25 years without a vocational education are, after a period of 6 months, only entitled to unemployment benefits which amount to 50% of the maximum rate of unemployment benefits.

Finanacina/Support:

Central government budget and membership contributions.

Eligibility:

The qualifying criteria for access to unemployment benefits are based upon "income" rather than "hours worked". The criterion is a work related income of at least kr. 233.376 (2019) earned within the past 36 months, however, a ceiling of approximately kr. 19.448 per month (2019) applies, which means that prospective recipients of unemployment benefits need to have been employed for at least 12 months. Only earned income from periods of membership can be included. Hereafter, the qualifying criteria for obtaining a new unemployment benefit period is based upon hours worked (1.924 hours within 36 months).

The recipient of unemployment benefits has to register as unemployed at the Public Employment Service (Jobcenter).

The unemployed person must be actively seeking jobs, be available to employment and be able to start a job and participate in on a day-to-day basis (availability). The recipient's Unemployment Insurance Fund and the Jobcenter are required to work in close cooperation to ensure intensive and effective job-search assistance for the recipient, and the recipient is obligated to take part in it, e.g. in a number of one-on-one interviews on job-training with wage subsidies.

Country Denmark 2019 Category 4 - Employment incentives
Intervention n°/name 6 Wage subsidies
Type of action: 4.1.2 - Temporary

Description

Aim:

To provide subsidised work experience for the unemployed in order to facilitate future insertion into regular employment.

Beneficiaries:

Unemployed persons according to Act on active employment measures.

Action/Instrument:

An unemployed person may be offered employment on a fixed term contract - either with a public or a private employer. The terms and conditions offered must be those applying under the appropriate collective agreement. A wage subsidy is paid to employers who recruit unemployed.

It is a condition that the employment of the unemployed results in an increase in the number of staff employed in the enterprise and that there is a reasonable distribution between employee with wage subsidies and employees employed without wage subsidies. It is a condition that the employment of unemployed persons by offering wage subsidies must not lead to a distortion of competition.

It is a condition that wage subsidies must not have the character of being aid to export-related activities or aid contingent upon the use of domestic goods in preference to imported goods. There are also restrictions due to rules on gross aid intensity and notification to the EU of the provision of aid to a single enterprise or establishment exceeding a gross aid amount of EUR 15 million over any three-year period.

Wage subsidies are primarily used, when unemployed persons almost immediately qualifies for a normal job, but needs small adjustments in personal qualifications in order to achieve a normal job.

The instrument/measure itself can be used for a period of up to 6 months with private employers and between 4 -6 month with public employers. Education may be a part of the activation offer.

There are special restrictions associated with employment with both a private or public employer. That is to say that the unemployed person is facing a special risk of being long term unemployed or have already been unemployed for at least 6 month. Also a person cannot obtain employment with wage subsidies if the employment is with an enterprise owned by the spouse or cohabiter/cohabitee. In the case of employment in the public sector a wage ceiling is applied.

Financing/Support:

Central government budget and local government budget (contribution to the net wage cost for the jobs in the county/municipal sector).

Eligibility:

The act on active employment measures consists of three overall measures: "Guidance and upskilling", "Training in enterprises" and "Wage subsidies". These instruments can be combined due to meet the needs of the person and the needs of the labour market. The prerequisites for using each particular measure/instrument, including the restrictions that apply, are mentioned under "Action/Instrument" for each of the measures/instruments. The general prerequisites due to the length of unemployment of the person, the age of the person and the educational background of the person are mentioned here under "Eligibility".

Unemployed persons, who do qualify for unemployment insurance/benefit, and who are under 30 years old, have a right and duty to be activated after 3 months of combined unemployment. The offer of activation must have a total duration of at least 2 weeks. Unemployed persons, who qualify for unemployment insurance/benefit, and who are between the age of 30 and 49 have a right and duty to be activated after 6 months of combined unemployment. Identification

Country Denmark 2019 Category 5 - Supported employment and rehabilitation

Intervention n°/name 21 Flex jobs (incl. self-employed)

Type of action: 5.1 - Supported employment

Description

Aim:

To give persons under the official retirement pension age (currently the age of 65-67 years depending of date of birth) with significant and permanent limitations in their working capacity a chance to obtain or preserve a connection to the labor market through a subsidized job, adjusted to the persons wage. As regards subsidy for self-employed persons the aim is to give these persons the possibility to maintain employment in their own business.

Beneficiaries:

Persons with a working capacity that is significantly and permanently reduced, who is not receiving social pension and who cannot handle a job on normal conditions, according to the social chapters of the collective bargain, and who cannot be reintegrated into employment without subsidy. The flexijob is temporary for a duration of 5 years. People over the age of 40 can get a permanent flexijob after the first temporary flexijob, if their working capacity is continued limited in a way, that it is not possible ever again to obtain an ordinary job.

Action/Instrument:

A person employed in a flexijob after the first of January 2013 receive a salary from the employer for the precise work he has performed. As a subsidy the municipality pays him a special 'flexijob subsidy' at an amount of maximum 18.260 DKR. (2018-level) per month. Regarding subsidy for self-employed persons, they receive an offer of support based on the fact that their working capacity is permanently and significantly reduced at an amount of maximum 138.437 DKR. (2018-level) per year.

Regarding flexijobs that have run before 2013 the employer receives a subsidy of ½ or 2/3 of the minimum wage of the professional area in question and is dependent on the reduced working capacity. Wage and other working conditions are established according to the collective bargains, which are established in collaboration with the trade unions. The agreement must be made in consideration with the person in question. In the case of subsidy for self-employed that started before 2013, the subsidy is ½ or 2/3 of the minimum collective bargain wage for newly appointed employees without professional skills in the professional area in question and is dependent on the reduced working capacity. In areas not covered by collective bargains the collective bargain wage for comparable professional areas are used.

Financing/Support:

The financing comes from both the central and local government budget. The local government pays the subsidy but receives a reimbursement from the central government. The size of the reimbursement depends on the duration of a flexijob. The longer the duration of a flexijob the lower the share of reimbursement from the central government.

Eligibility:

The recipients are people with significant and permanently limitations in their working capacity, who don't receive any early retirement pension or any other social pension.

A person in rehabilitation can benefit from a package of measures including income support, preparatory training, vocational training and educations, work experience or support for creating new business. Rehabilitation benefits are equal to the maximum rate of the unemployment benefit or social assistance depending on the recipient's age, former income and children to provide for. Assistance is also provided for the specific expenses which are a natural consequence of the education or of reduced physical or psychological capability to work. Furthermore, education assistance can also be provided in the form of books and other teaching material.

In connection with vocational rehabilitation in an enterprise, the participant may be paid the contractual standard wage instead of a rehabilitation allowance in the case of special circumstances in relation to the rehabilitee.

A rehabilitee can receive assistance either as subsidies or interest-free loans to establish an independent business, provided that the rehabilitee in question has the vocational and business-oriented prerequisites to run a business. Before participating to the rehabilitation period, participants must first go through the pre-rehabilitation period (see measure DK-28).

Intervention n°/name 40 Guidance and upskilling

Type of action: 1.1 - Client services
2.1 - Institutional training

Description

Aim:

To provide guidance on educational opportunities mainly to unemployed people, and to upgrade the skills of the same group of people

Beneficiaries:

Registered unemployed persons and some recipients of sickness benefits and rehabilitation.

Action/Instrument:

The intervention 'Guidance and upskilling', consists of two underlying instruments: 1) Education through general courses directly aimed at getting participants into ordinary employment and 2) Other courses including specially arranged education/projects, practical experience and education of immigrants. Both types of instruments may be combined.

This intervention 'Guidance and upskilling' is a grouping of four different interventions which can be combined with each other under a single activation offer:

1. Education and training (previously DK-8): involves training either in the ordinary education/training system or in special tailor made programs. Unemployed under the age of 30 cannot normally receive an offer of activation under this measure if the educational/training is covered by the State Educational Support (SU) system and the person qualifies for the SU. Persons who have either used up their right to SU or are lone parents eligible for this intervention.
2. Specially arranged activation (previously DK-9): involves, for example, information meetings, periods of work experience in enterprises, job seeking activities, recruitment interviews and job tests. This measure may also contain some educational activities. Activation in this intervention can last up to 3 month in all, but each particular part of the specially arranged activation can only last up to 1 month.
3. Short guidance and skills qualification program (previously DK-17): involves for example information meetings, job seeking activities, recruitment interviews and job tests. This measure may also contain some educational activities.
4. Education of immigrants (previously DK-33): is intended to provide immigrants with basic education in Danish language and social studies. Immigrants over the age of 18 with a legal right to stay in Denmark are eligible for this intervention. The content of the courses is decided in initial contact between the immigrant and the local government. During participation immigrants may receive an integration allowance and are required to join a training course one month after the Local Government takes over responsibility for their well-being.

The municipalities are responsible for activation under the intervention 'Guidance and upskilling'. Overall the intervention is normally implemented for a period of up to 6 weeks (time participating in "Short guidance and skills qualification program" is not counted). However, it can be used for periods of up to 26 weeks if education in the Danish language is a major part of the offer of activation and can be used for a period of up to 1 year if the unemployed person requires retraining to acquire skills in a professional area with bottlenecks. Furthermore, activation in "short guidance and skills qualification programs" that lasts less than 2 weeks is not counted in the period of up to 6 weeks mentioned above. Activation is offered in order to find and develop the unemployed persons professional, social or language skills in order to qualify for a job. However, the employment of unemployed persons in "special arranged activation" and "short guidance and qualifying programs" must not lead to a distortion of competition.

Financing/Support:

Central government budget and local government budget

Eligibility:

The act on active employment measures consists of three overall measures: "Guidance and upskilling", "Training in enterprises" and "Wage subsidies" which can be combined to meet the needs of the person and the needs of the labor market.

The measures can be used for persons eligible for benefits and activation. Both the specific prerequisites for each instrument and the general prerequisites based on the length of unemployment of the person, the age of the person and the educational background of the person have to be satisfied.

The prerequisites for using each particular measure/instrument are mentioned under "Action/Instrument" for each of the measures/instruments, including the restrictions to each instrument. The general prerequisites based on the length of unemployment of the person, the age of the person and the educational background of the person are mentioned here under "Eligibility".

Unemployed persons, who do qualify for unemployment insurance/benefit: Unemployed persons, who do qualify for unemployment insurance/benefit, and who are under 30 years old, have a right and duty to be activated after 3 months of combined unemployment. The offer of activation must have a total duration of 2 weeks. Unemployed persons, who qualify for unemployment insurance/benefit, and who are between the age of 30 and 49 have a right and a duty to be activated after 6 months of combined unemployment. The offer of activation must have a total duration of up to 2 weeks. Those who are at the age of 50 and over have a right and duty to be activated after 3 months of combined unemployment. The offer of activation must have a total duration of up to 2 weeks.

Unemployed persons, who are eligible for social assistance in the form of cash benefits or settlement benefits: Unemployed persons, who are eligible for social assistance in the form of cash benefits: Unemployed persons, who are eligible for social assistance in the form of cash benefits, and who are under the age of 30 without education, have a right and a duty to be activated after 1 month continuous unemployment. Unemployed persons, whom are eligible for social assistance in the form of cash benefits, and who are the age of 30 and older have to be activated after 3 or 6 months of continuous unemployment. The offer of activation must have a minimum duration of 2 weeks. After having completed the first activation offer, the unemployed person, who is eligible for social assistance in the form of cash benefits, normally have a right and a duty to participate in activation every time the person has 6 or 12 months of continuous unemployment.

D - Reference data

R.1 Registered jobseekers (total)

35 Registered jobseekers

Registered jobseekers refer to all persons employed or unemployed who have (1) contacted the PES for assistance in job-search, and (2) whose personal details and circumstances have been recorded by the PES and (3) who have had personal contact with the PES within the last 12 months.

36 Registered unemployed

The statistics comprise unemployed persons insured against unemployment and unemployed non-insured persons claiming cash benefits including non-insured persons and insured unemployed persons, who are not yet entitled to claim unemployment benefits or who have lost their right to claim unemployment benefits. It is assumed that unemployed non-insured persons, who do not claim cash benefits, are only to a limited extent registered with the job centres and are thus excluded from the statistics. The unemployment statistics exclude persons whose main occupation is activation or leave, including persons claiming leave allowance or early retirement benefit.

The unemployment figures in The LMP-database are reduced with overlaps (persons can't be unemployed, activated or a combination for more than 37 hours a week).

37 Other registered jobseekers

The figure is calculated as the difference between registered jobseekers and registered unemployed

41 Individual action plans

Data on Individual action plans only includes the individual action plans for recipients of unemployment benefits. For other target groups we don't receive separate data on individual action plans. Furthermore data on individual action plans in Denmark is available from a number of different IT-systems, depending on which IT-provider the Jobcenter have chosen. In the various systems individual action plans is defined and dealt with in different ways. A detailed and comprehensive calculation of individual action plans according to the same principles is therefore not possible to make. The enclosed figure thus includes the number of open job plans for recipients of unemployment benefits, where "open" means that the jobcenter has not closed the job plan. It should be noted that open job plans also may include job plans for people, that no longer are unemployed or registered at the PES. A job plan may in some IT-systems resume when and if the unemployed return to the Jobcenter.

44 LTU Job integration agreement

Average stock of LTU with a job integration agreement during 2019.

A person is counted as LTU when he/she reaches an unbroken unemployment spell of 52 weeks. This is defined as 52 weeks of receiving benefits that are included in the national unemployment statistics.

All unemployed persons in Denmark receive a job integration agreement at the first meeting with the PES, which is updated at every meeting with the PES. Hence all LTU have a job integration agreement.

The number of LTUs is generated by looking at the last full week of a given month. People who, in this week, are included in the national unemployment statistics and have been receiving unemployment benefits for at least 52 weeks are counted as LTU.

When counting the number of weeks of unemployment, weeks without benefits and weeks with other benefits that are not included in the national unemployment statistics are not counted. The unemployment spell is broken ('exit' from unemployment) if a person does not receive a benefit that is included in the national unemployment statistics for 4 weeks in a row. Although periods with "holiday benefits" are not counted towards breaking the unemployment spell. If a person at a later point in time receives benefits that are included in the national unemployment statistics, this is counted as the beginning of a new unemployment spell.

We haven't applied a fixed 'period of reference', meaning that a person can have reached 52 weeks of unemployment (LTU) within a longer period than 52 weeks, as long as this unemployment spell is not broken by at least 4 weeks in a row without a benefit that is included in the national unemployment statistics.

Annual average stock of LTUs with a job integration agreement in 2019: 22.166

Since all LTUs have a Job integration agreement, we have added the stock of LTU in every month in 2018 and divided by 12. Number of starting job integration agreements for LTUs in 2019: 28.066 Since all LTU have a job integration agreement, we have counted all the persons who are included in the LTU-statistics for the first time during 2019. The same person cannot be counted twice.

Source: Eurostat LMP database. Date of extraction: 31 March 2021

Number of ending job integration agreements for LTUs in 2019: 30.499

Since all LTU have a job integration agreement, we have counted all the persons who were registered as an 'exit' from LTU, after having their unemployment spell broken. The same person cannot be counted twice.
