

Senior Online Writer, DG Employment, European Commission

We are

Unit A2 supports policy and funding units in DG Employment (EMPL) and the respective College members in giving maximum visibility to the Commission's work in the area of employment, social affairs and inclusion. We do so through managing press, web and social media work, communication campaigns, audio-visual products, publications and events. The unit is also in charge of internal communication.

We propose

We propose an interesting and challenging job as a Senior Online Writer in the Digital Communication Team of Unit A2. The Senior Online Writer will be in charge of creating engaging content for EMPL websites, in particular the European Social Fund Plus (ESF+) website in cooperation with the unit's management and different teams. He/she will draft articles and project stories, proofread and edit texts in English, and publish content on the website. The Senior Online Writer will liaise with geographical units and other units in EMPL in order to provide up-to-date information regarding the opportunities under the ESF+ and to increase visibility of the benefits of EU funding.

We look for

We look for a dynamic candidate with at least 5 years of experience in writing for the web, with excellent drafting skills. The candidate should have sound experience in web editing, knowledge of CMS, in particular Drupal/Open Europa, as well as of HTML and SEO practices. Working knowledge of the Adobe Creative Suite (Photoshop in particular) would be an advantage. The ideal candidate should have experience interacting with many different actors, or contributing to the work of others. The candidate must have a native-level of written English.

Type of contract

The successful candidate will be recruited as an "intramuros" service provider through an external company, with an initial contract for one year.

Place of work

Brussels

The deadline for applications is 12 July 2023, 12H00 CEST.
