NATIONAL PROCEDURE (-S) FOR ASSIGNING AN EORI NUMBER

Description of the EORI registration processes for:

- economic operators established in this country;

All persons (legal, natural, tradesmen, associations) who want to be registered in EORI system need to submit an application for an EORI number on a form available at Croatian customs web site:

<https://carina.gov.hr/UserDocsImages//dokumenti/Procedure/Propisi//PRILOG%201%20-%20Zahtjev%20za%20dodjeljivanje%20EORI%20broja.pdf>

It may be submitted in person, by post or by e-mail.

All economic operators established in Croatia have a unique personal identification number (OIB) assigned by the Tax Administration. Customs authorities' national EORI database retrieves data from the OIB database. When a person applies for an EORI number, the customs officer receiving the application enters OIB in the national EORI system where a set of data is sent electronically from OIB register to the customs EORI system and the EORI number, whose structure is HR+OIB, is generated and assigned to the person requesting it.

- economic operators not established in the EU;

Economic operators not established in the EU may submit the application in Croatian or English. The EORI registration process for economic operators not established in the EU but having an OIB is the same as for economic operators established in Croatia.

In case of economic operators not established in the EU and not having an OIB, the customs officer receiving the application copies all data from the application to the national EORI database and a generic EORI number is generated and assigned to the person requesting it.

1. Are EORI numbers assigned in accordance with Article 6 (1)(a) UCC-DA to persons other than economic operators?

Yes, all persons participating in activities covered by customs legislation are registered in EORI system, including private persons.

2. Registration process: how long it takes to assign an EORI number from receipt of a request from the trader concerned?

3. Which documents should be presented by an economic operator during the registration process for assigning an EORI number?

Economic operators established in Croatia and economic operators not established in the EU registered in OIB register don't have to provide documents other than the application. Exceptionally, when the application is submitted by a private person by e-mail than a scanned identification card on both sides should be provided.

Economic operators not established in the EU and not registered in OIB register submitting the application for an EORI number need to prove their identity:

Accompanying the application there will be a few supporting documents necessary to identify the person submitting it. The customs officer who receives the application checks the validity of the information and if the information is correct assigns an EORI number to the operator.

It is important to state that all operators who are already registered in our custom registry have already been assigned an EORI number. Nevertheless, the application procedure is necessary to give their consent to publication of their information and to update their data.

f economic operators not established in the EU;

The procedure is the same as above. Economic operators should fill in an application form on paper and submit it in any of the computerised customs offices in Greece. Accompanying the application there will be a few supporting documents necessary to identify the legal or physical person submitting it. The customs officer who receives the application checks the validity of the information and if the information is correct assigns an EORI number to the operator.

Ad hoc numbers will not be assigned to Greek economic operators.

However, ad hoc numbers will be assigned to third country operators who do not have an EORI number when submitting a customs declaration where, due to force majeure, the competent customs authority cannot assign an EORI number.

1. Are EORI numbers assigned in accordance with Article 6 (1)(a) UCC-DA to persons other than economic operators?

No

2. Registration process: how long will it take to assign an EORI number from receipt of a request from the trader concerned?

NATIONAL PROCEDURE (-S) FOR ASSIGNING AN EORI NUMBER

f economic operators established in this country;

Every operator registered in Spain has a tax identification number (they are already registered for custom and tax purposes), so we will register them ex-officio, except branches or foreign persons (legal or natural).

They may communicate their written consent to the publication of personal data and other information through our website (virtual Customs and Excise Office).

Those operators who need to apply for an EORI number may do so through our website (virtual Customs and Excise Office).

f economic operators not established in the EU;

These operators do not have a tax identification number, so are not registered for customs or tax purposes. They cannot use the website to apply, because an electronic signature linked to the tax identification number is needed. So they can apply in any customs office, providing the information/documentation needed (see point 3).

f if relevant: other persons than listed above.

Only natural persons established in Spain will be given an EORI number (apart, of course, from those conducting customs activities). (The procedure is described in the previous paragraph).

1. Are EORI numbers assigned in accordance with Article 6 (1)(a) UCC-DA to persons other than economic operators?

YES

2. Registration process: how long will it takes to assign an EORI number from receipt of a request from the trader concerned?

If the trader has previously been assigned a tax identification number, EORI registration will take less than a week (5 working days). If not, the timeframe will depend on the time needed to get a tax identification number (about 10 working days).

DOCUMENTS TO BE PROVIDED DURING THE REGISTRATION PROCESS

3. Which documents should be presented by an economic operator during the registration process for assigning an EORI number?

Operators who have not previously been assigned a tax identification number should ask for one to the responsible authority in the Tax Agency. They will need to provide this authority with an original passport (in the case of natural persons) or a document from the business register. This document must be translated into Spanish with an apostille. Once they have been given it, they will be registered in EORI.

2. NATIONAL PROCEDURE(-S) FOR ASSIGNING AN EORI NUMBER

a. Description of the EORI registration processes for:

- economic operators established in this country;

The EORI number is assigned only to those EOs that apply for the registration. No so-called ad hoc numbers are assigned, e.g. without submission of the completed and signed application form for registration/update containing all the necessary data.

The registration process is conducted in the Integrated Commodity Trading Entrepreneurs' Registration System (SZPROT). Applications are submitted via the Electronic Services Portal of the Customs and Fiscal Service (PUESC) at the address: www.puesc.gov.pl and serviced in electronic form. Applications for updating the entity data or deactivation of the EORI number are serviced in the same way.

The registration procedure starts with creating the account on the PUESC. The account is always set up by a natural person authorised to act on behalf of the economic operator before the customs authorities. It may be, in particular, an owner of the enterprise, a person authorised in accordance with registration documents of the company, a proxy or a representative for customs affairs.

Following the opening of the account, the authorised person fills in and sends the Application for registration of the natural person data in SISC in electronic form. If the application is filled in correctly - the person receives the ID SISC number (the unique identification number attributed to persons during the registration process in the Customs and Fiscal Service Information System (SISC).

The next step is the registration of the economic entity, through filling in and sending the Application for registration of the economic operator in SICS, published on PUESC. While filling in the application, "Customs" option should be checked in the "Area of operations in SC" field, and the "assign the EORI number" should be checked – the application filled in according to this procedure in the customs area is simultaneously the application for attributing the EORI number. As a result of registration, the ID SISC number, which is simultaneously the EORI number, will be attributed to the Economic Entity.

The last step is linking of the natural person data with the data of the entity on behalf of which the natural person intends to act (representative). In order to register the authorisation to act on behalf of the economic entity, the electronic Application for registration/updates/deactivation of the representation in SISC, also published on PUESC, should be filled in and sent.

On PUESC, detailed information is available concerning the registration process "step by step".

If it turns out during the registration process that the data submitted are incorrect or have been earlier registered in the system, the EORI number will not be assigned. The economic operator is bound to provide correct data and update them in case if they change.

Poland does not assign ad hoc numbers. All numbers are assigned on a permanent basis.

– economic operators not established in the EU;

The EORI number is assigned only to these EOs which apply for registration. No so-called ad hoc numbers are assigned, e.g. without submission of a completed and signed application form for registration/update containing all the necessary data.

Poland does not assign ad hoc numbers. All numbers are assigned on a permanent basis.

A foreign economic operator should attach the original - in case of submission of the application in a hard copy, or a copy/scanned copy - in case of submission of the application in electronic form (or a printout from the foreign computerised registration system) - of the extract from the register of economic activity from the country where the economic operator is established (or other document of the same nature), confirming the authorisation to establish a representative by persons who issued the power of attorney.

If the submitted documents do not contain information confirming the authorisation to represent on behalf of a person (persons) signing the Application for registration of the economic operator in SICS, the applicant is obliged to supplement it and duly document the rights of representation it holds. Moreover, the translation of documents drawn up in a foreign language should be attached ("working" translations are permissible, however, in case of doubts concerning their contents, on request of the customs authority the official translation should be submitted).

If an economic operator fails to attach the required document referred to above, the assigned EORI number is of temporary nature. The missing document should be sent to the Chamber of Fiscal Administration in Poznań or submitted to the nearest customs office, by attaching it to the correctly completed Application for update of the Economic Operator's data in SISC.

NATIONAL PROCEDURE (-S) FOR ASSIGNING AN EORI NUMBER

Description of the EORI registration processes for:

f Economic operators established in this country;

The EORI number for economic operators established in Portugal is ‘PT’ plus the tax identification number (NIF) already assigned by tax authorities. So the registration process will be fully automatic.

As we use an existing number for the EORI number, it is not necessary for traders already known by PT customs administration to apply for an EORI number. They will be automatically assigned and issued with an EORI number. Nonetheless, PT economic operators will be invited to add optional data, such as consent to publication, using a dedicated page on the official website for electronic declarations (using the electronic signature).

For new economic operators established in PT, we register and assign them an EORI number immediately, as they enter the tax number in the customs declaration field or in another customs document required for other customs operations that requires an EORI number, once it is confirmed that they meet the legal requirements for economic operators (i.e. being a natural person or a legal person with tax status), through an interface with the tax database opened automatically by the various declaration systems. So, if they do not yet have a tax number (NIF), they must obtain it in advance from the PT authorities responsible for assigning the NIF. All the new information entered in the PT EORI database will be exported to the central database of the EC at the next opportunity on the same day.

In spite of that, we noted that new economic operators established in PT, that don't have yet an EORI number assign by PT, can always be automatically register on AT web site (www.portaldasfinancas.gov.pt) in the menu “Declarações Electrónicas”, submenu “Alteração/complemento de registo de operadores estabelecidos em PT”. For that propose they shall indicate their NIF, and the EORI number will be assigned at the moment. However, the EORI Number will be on the central system only in the next day. This procedure is particularly important for PT EO that made the first declaration in a member state different from PT.

f Economic operators not established in the EU;

Economic operators not established in the customs territory of the Union can apply for registration using a form that can be downloaded and filled in manually and submitted by post to the authority responsible for assigning an EORI number. In this case, it will be necessary to present legal documents proving identity and legal status, to confirm identity, before being assigned an EORI number.

For economic operators not established in the customs territory of the Union, the EORI number will be 'PT' plus the ISO country code of the corresponding operator followed by a sequential seven-digit number, the last being a check digit. This registration process will take at least 24 hours once the supporting documents have been supplied.

1. Are EORI numbers assigned in accordance with Article 6(1)(a)UCC-DA to persons other than economic operators?

YES. For all portuguese natural persons, the EORI is assigned since they establish an interaction with AT customs systems.

2. Registration process: how long it takes to assign an EORI number from receipt of a request from the trader concerned?

This question is partially answered above. There is no waiting period for an EORI number if the economic operator is already registered with the tax administration. The EORI registry is created by automatic extraction of the necessary data from the tax systems. The EORI registration is exported to the central system in the same day. Under Portuguese law, if the EO is not registered with the tax administration or has no business registration, he is not an authorised economic operator for customs purposes.

For non- EU economic operators, the time taken may vary and will depend on the number of days taken to receive the application together supporting documents submitted by post and the work needed to check their validity and legality. This may be between six and ten working days.

DOCUMENTS TO BE PROVIDED DURING THE REGISTRATION PROCESS

3. Which documents should be presented by an economic operator during the registration process for assigning an EORI number?

PT EOs don't have to provide any document because the EORI is assigned immediately as they enter their tax identification number, once it is confirmed that they meet the legal requirements.

EOs established outside the EU have to provide the agreement form, the consent to publication in EOS and the documents proving to be a legal entity.
