4. The authorities shall avoid, unless a decision has been made to initiate an investigation, any publicising of the request seeking the initiation of an investigation. However, after receipt of a properly documented request and before proceeding to initiate an investigation, the government of the exporting country concerned shall be notified.

Where the number of exporters involved is particularly high, the full text of the written complaint may instead be provided only to the authorities of the exporting country or to the relevant trade association.

Article 11

Investigation

1. The Commission shall seek all information which it deems necessary to carry out an investigation.
2. Interested parties may make their views known in writing by sending the relevant information to the Commission. Those views shall be taken into consideration where they are backed by sufficient evidence. The Commission may verify the information received with the beneficiary country concerned and any interested party.
3. Parties receiving questionnaires used in the investigation shall be given at least 30 days to reply. An extension to the 30 day period may be granted, due account being taken of the time-limits of the investigation, provided that the party shows due cause for such extension, in terms of its particular circumstances.
4. The Commission may request Member States to supply information, and Member States shall take whatever steps are necessary in order to give effect to such requests.
5. The Commission may request Member States to carry out all necessary checks and inspections, particularly amongst importers, traders and Union producers, and to carry out investigations in third countries, provided that the economic operators concerned give their consent and that the government of the country in question has been officially notified and raises no objection. Member States shall take whatever steps are necessary in order to give effect to such requests from the Commission. Officials of the Commission shall be authorised, if the Commission or a Member State so requests, to assist the officials of Member States in carrying out their duties.
6. In cases where the number of interested parties, types of product or transactions is large, the investigation may be limited to a reasonable number of parties, products or transactions by using samples which are statistically valid on the basis of information available at the time of the selection, or to the largest representative volume of production, sales or exports which can reasonably be investigated within the time available. The final selection of parties, types of products or transactions made under these sampling provisions shall rest with the Commission, though preference shall be given to choosing a sample in consultation with, and with the consent of, the parties concerned, provided such parties make themselves known and make sufficient information available to enable a representative sample to be chosen. Where it is decided to sample and there is a degree of non-cooperation by some or all of the parties selected which is likely to materially affect the outcome of the investigation, a new sample may be selected. However, if a material degree of non-cooperation persists or there is insufficient time to select a new sample, the relevant provisions of Article 13 shall apply.

Article 12

Verification visits

1. The Commission may carry out visits to examine the records of importers, exporters, traders, agents, producers, trade associations and organisations and other interested parties to verify information provided on products that may require safeguard measures.
2. The Commission may carry out investigations in third countries as required, provided that it obtains the agreement of the economic operators concerned, that it notifies the representatives of the government of the country in question and that the latter does not object to the investigation. As soon as the agreement of the economic operators concerned has been obtained the Commission should notify the authorities of the exporting country of the names and addresses of the economic operators to be visited and the dates agreed.

3. The economic operators concerned shall be advised of the nature of the information to be verified during verification visits and of any information which needs to be provided during such visits. Further information may be requested.
4. In investigations carried out pursuant to paragraphs 1, 2 and 3, the Commission shall be assisted by officials of those Member States who so request.

Article 13

1. In cases in which any interested party refuses access to, or otherwise does not provide, necessary information within the time-limits provided in this Regulation, or significantly impedes the investigation, findings, affirmative or negative, may be made on the basis of the facts available. Where it is found that any interested party has supplied false or misleading information, the information shall be disregarded and use may be made of facts available. Interested parties shall be informed of the consequences of non-cooperation.
2. Where the information submitted by an interested party is not ideal in all respects it should nevertheless not be disregarded, provided that any deficiencies are not such as to cause undue difficulty in arriving at a reasonably accurate finding and that the information is appropriately submitted in good time and is verifiable, and that the party has acted to the best of its ability.
3. If evidence or information is not accepted, the supplying party shall be informed forthwith of the reasons therefor and shall be granted an opportunity to provide further explanations within the time-limit specified. If the explanations are considered unsatisfactory, the reasons for rejection of such evidence or information shall be disclosed and given in published findings.
4. If determinations are based on the provisions of paragraph 1, including the information supplied in the request, it shall, where practicable and with due regard to the time-limits of the investigation, be checked by reference to information from other independent sources which may be available, such as published price lists, official import statistics and customs returns, or information obtained from other interested parties during the investigation.

Such information may include relevant data pertaining to the world market or other representative markets, where appropriate.

5. If an interested party does not cooperate, or cooperates only partially, so that relevant information is thereby withheld, the result may be less favourable to the party than if it had cooperated.

1. Where the Commission, in accordance with Article 24(2) of the GSP Regulation, has initiated an investigation, it shall establish a constituted file. A constituted file shall contain information submitted by the Member States, a beneficiary country, interested parties and the relevant information which has been obtained by the Commission and with due regard the confidentiality obligations contained in Article 38 of the GSP Regulation.
2. A beneficiary country concerned and interested parties which have come forward in accordance with Article 11(2) have a right of access to the constituted file upon written request. They may inspect all information contained in the constituted file except internal documents prepared by the authorities of the EU or its Member States and with due regard to the confidentiality obligations contained in Article 38 of the GSP Regulation. They may respond to such information and their comments shall be taken into consideration, wherever they are sufficiently substantiated.
3. The content of a constituted file shall comply with provisions of confidentiality in accordance with Article 38 of the GSP Regulation.

Article 15

General hearing

1. A beneficiary country concerned and interested parties which have come forward in accordance with Article 11(2) have the right to be heard by the Commission.

Involvement of the Hearing Officer

1. A beneficiary country and interested parties which have come forward in accordance with Article 11(2) may also request the intervention of the Hearing Officer. The Hearing Officer shall review requests for access to the constituted file, disputes on the confidentiality of documents, requests for extension of time limits and requests to be heard.
2. If there is an oral hearing with the Hearing Officer the relevant Commission service shall participate in it.

Article 17

1. The Commission shall disclose the details underlying the essential facts and considerations on the basis of which the Commission's decisions are taken.
2. Disclosure shall be given in writing. It shall contain the Commission's findings and shall reflect its intention to reintroduce normal Common Customs Tariff duties or not.

3. Disclosure shall be made, with due regard to the protection of confidential information, as soon as possible and, normally, not later than 45 days prior to a definitive decision by the Commission of any proposal for final action and in any case at an appropriate time for the parties to make comments and for those comments to be considered by the Commission. Where the Commission is not in a position to disclose certain facts or considerations at that time, these shall be disclosed as soon as possible thereafter.
4. Disclosure shall not prejudice any subsequent decision which may be taken but where such decision is based on any different facts and considerations, these shall be disclosed as soon as possible.
5. Submissions made after disclosure is given shall be taken into consideration only if received within a period to be set by the Commission in each case, which shall be at least 14 days, due consideration being given to the urgency of the matter.

Article 18

Review

1. Wherever normal Common Custom Tariff duties have been reintroduced, any interested party may submit a written request for reinstatement of the tariff preferences providing prima facie evidence that the reasons justifying the reintroduction of normal duties no longer apply. Union producers may submit a written request for the extension of the period of reintroduction of the normal duties providing prima facie evidence that the reasons justifying the reintroduction of normal duties continue to apply.
2. The Commission may review the need for reinstatement of normal Common Custom Tariff duties wherever it considers such a review to be justified.
3. The provisions of this chapter shall apply mutatis mutandis to the review of the safeguard measures.
